Be mine

The Romulus Public Library is asking residents to "Be Mine" through a display of Valentines, some dating back to the late 1800s. The cards have been loaned to the library by Mrs. Charles Lau, a resident of the Romulus Community since 1917, and will be on display throughout the month. So find out how sweethearts said "Be Mine" in years gone by. The display is in the front showcase at the library entrance. ANP Photos by Tom Greenwood.

ANP Managing Editor Dennis Fassett resigns

The president and publisher of Associated Newspapers Inc., David J. Willett, has announced this week the resignation of Dennis G. Fassett as managing editor.

Fassett, 43, of Westland, will leave Associated Newspapers Friday to assume a position with Omnicon, a Plymouth-based cable television company. He will become that firm's general manager of western operations.

Long active in community affairs, Fassett joined Associated Newspapers in December 1976. He has guided the editorial department of the chain of six suburban weeklies since that time.

Locally, he is affiliated with the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, Rotary Club, Family and Neighborhood Services and Chamber of Commerce.

Initiating several new programs, aimed at improving local communications between elected officials and their constituents, Fassett instituted Editorial Coffee Clatches, where residents were invited into the newsroom to discuss with the ANP staff, methods for improving the newspapers' coverage.

In addition, he formulated a newspaper-sponsored "Meet Your Candidates" night and brought elected officials to the pages of the newspapers weekly to provide insight into pending and approved legislation.

Fassett also contributed to several important news stories, co-authoring a recent investigative series on Communities United for Action Inc., which led to the suspension of four of its officers and an FBI investigation into its activities.

"The last three years have been an unique experience for me," Fassett said. "Those years provided me with an opportunity for community involvement, while at the same time allowing me to see a much broader perspective on government in the 11 communities these newspapers serve."

According to Willett: "We naturally are disappointed to lose Dennis. He brought a local viewpoint to these newspapers at a time when we needed that perspective. We wish him the very best in his future endeavors."

Ends 7-month search

Richard Sullivan named city finance director

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The City of Romulus ended its search for a finance director last week with the appointment of Richard Sullivan, former Huron Township treasurer.

Council voted unanimously to hire Sullivan at an annual salary of $24,000, on a par with the highest paid city employee, George Bingham, city engineer. Sullivan's contract does not include any benefits.

Selection of Sullivan capped a 7-month effort by the city to find a replacement for Larry Moore, former finance director, who left city employment to take a job with a private firm.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry questioned Sullivan's residency (he lives in Huron Township), but Mayor William M. Oakley said the city charter stipulates that a professional hired under contract is exempt from provisions of the city's residency ordinance.

Sullivan, who has been on the city hall scene for several days reviewing its financial setup, would not answer questions posed on the city's accounting procedures.

The questions, which came prior to his approval by council, did elicit this comment from Sullivan:

"Since council spends the money, it would be my duty (as finance director) to tell council of the availability of funds."

News stories last year centered on the city's $1 million cash shortage and its inefficient method of keeping track of its cash flow, resulting in writing checks from accounts with little or no funds in them.

The city's auditing firm, Doyle Litt of Troy was sharply critical of the accounting procedures and recommended a revision of the entire system.

Councilman Ray Cantrell asked Sullivan how long it would take him to "straighten out" the city's financial accounting system.

Sullivan, who said he deplored the use of "straighten out," said it would take some time to "iron out the bugs."

In his brief address to council prior to its approval, Sullivan commented on the large number of "competent people" now employed by the city.

He said he was quite impressed with the "top class" personnel he had observed, declaring they are seldom found in government employment.

Questioned as to his age, Sullivan said he would soon be 68, but quipped: "I don't plan on being here until I'm 90!"

He explained that it was his intention to stay long enough to institute improved accounting methods and to train a younger person to take over the duties of finance director after he steps down.

Raspberry moved to concur with the mayor's recommendation to hire Sullivan. Council okayed his hiring unanimously.

In a few brief remarks, Oakley said he had been the "aggressor" in talks, dating back two months, with Sullivan. He said he agreed with Sullivan's concept of training a younger person for the finance director's job.

"The city needs Mr. Sullivan more than he needs the job," said the mayor.

Raspberry indicated he was in favor of the new finance director going to work immediately, so the city could rid itself of the bad image generated by lack of funds.

He said he would like to have the name of the job changed from finance director to controller.

Councilman Ed Rush wished Sullivan "good luck" and said the city needs his expertise in the financial field.

The new finance director said one of his first priorities would be to provide information of when funds are coming in so the city could more realistically prepare its operating budget.

Sullivan, who resigned last year after five years as Huron Township treasurer, does not have a college degree, but his background in financial matters is extensive.

Sullivan worked for General Motors for six years, moving from clerk in the controller's office to assistant to the plant controller. He then went to Midland Steel where he served for two years as chief accountant for the power brake division.

In 1949, Sullivan began employment with the Ford Motor Co., retiring from the giant automobile firm 23 years later in 1972. His duties there included those in the controller's office and the positions of supervisor of operations accounting and supervisor of data processing.

For two years after his retirement from Ford, Sullivan worked for TGU, an export operations firm in Detroit as controller and office manager.

Sullivan then went into politics, serving six months as trustee in Huron before being appointed as treasurer in June 1975. He was elected to the treasurer's post in 1976 and again in 1978.

The city's new finance director is married. He and his wife, Dorothy, observed their 40th wedding anniversary last Sunday.

They have three children — Lt. Col. Gerald R. Sullivan, who is stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Elizabeth Anne Sullivan, who is a teacher in the Waverly School District in Lansing; and Mrs. Dorothy Vartanian, who is manager of the American Bank and Trust branch office in Holt.

Firm seeks federal loan for Trouton Drain cleanup

The Romulus City Council last week approved a project plan that will enable Chemical Recovery Systems to apply for a federal loan to aid in stopping pollution of the Trouton Drain.

Residents who live in the area have complained for years of the foul odors coming from the drain. The City of Romulus spent $50,000 in a attempt recently to clean out the drain and possibly put an end to the offensive odors.

Continued complaints by area residents, supported by efforts of local legislators, prompted the State Attorney General's Office to make an investigation.

Late last year, the Attorney General's Office cited Chemical Recovery Systems on several counts of polluting Trouton Drain, mostly from seepage of waste liquids from large lagoons located between the drain and its plant.

On Jan. 8 of this year, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Maureen Reilly ordered the plant to make necessary corrective modifications to its ground water intercept tile system and to install a Slurry trench by June 1.

The judge ordered Chemical Recovery Systems to appear in court tomorrow to report on its progress in meeting the court's orders.

The company's application to the U.S. Small Business Administration Guarantee Pollution Program was scheduled to be considered two days earlier, on Feb. 12, by the Michigan Job Development Authority.

In view of the fast approaching deadline, City Council voted to okay the company's project plan, thereby paving the way for a federal loan to install pollution control equipment and procedures.

Under state law, the governing body of the municipality, in which the project is to be located, must approve that plan and consent to the location of the project.

The vote was 6-0 with Councilman Ray Cantrell abstaining.

He commented: "I can't see the justification for helping someone we have moved against."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry at first objected to approval of the company's plan because it might not concur with what the Attorney General's Office would require.

Mayor William M. Oakley told Raspberry that language could be incorporated into the adopting council resolution that would satisfy the Attorney General's Office.

The mayor said that if council action now would help Chemical Recovery Systems get the loan, he would be in favor, if the city's resolution would include demands of the Attorney General's Office.

Tom Linn, an attorney with the bonding firm which would prepare tax-exempt bonds for the Michigan Development Authority to issue, said he had no objection to inclusion of the demands by the Attorney General's Office and the Department of Natural Resources into the council resolution.

He warned that if Chemical Recovery Systems did not get its loan application approved now, it would be at least another year before it could apply again.

Linn said any pending litigation would have to be resolved before the Michigan Development Authority could issue the bonds and loan the proceeds to the local plant.

Councilman Ed Rush, prior to the vote, said that people living in the area of the Trouton Drain were entitled to relief and that he favored immediate approval of the resolution to approve the company's project plan.

Linn explained that the loan would be approximately a half million dollars, and Chemical Recovery Systems had no other place to go for funds.

City could lose sheriff's service by March 9

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners, working with a tight budget, has taken a dim view of extending police service to the City of Romulus beyond March 9, unless the city pays up last year's charges by Feb. 21.

The county estimates that the city is in arrears for the police service in excess of $1 million.

A resolution by Commissioner Mary Robinson of Detroit, ordering the corporation counsel to notify Romulus of their demands by Feb. 9, won swift approval of the full board at a meeting Feb. 8. One commissioner, George Killeen of Detroit, at the meeting insisted that interest on the $1 million be included in the county's demand for payment in full.

Romulus, during the 1979 budget year, contracted with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department to provide four patrol cars, eight deputies, two detectives and a youth officer for a monthly charge of $133,000. According to county auditors, that contract also included a 20 percent charge to cover administration costs. A new contract, negotiated after July 1, 1979, increased charges to $142,000 per month.

A new contract currently being considered by the city would reduce the service to two cars, four deputies and leave the door open to negotiate for further units at a future date.

Robinson's resolution allows the city a 30-day notice of the county's intention to cut off service a two weeks notice, after the Feb. 21 deadline demanded by labor contracts.

Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar has consistently insisted that the county's calculations are grossly in error. He maintains that the city has not been adequately notified of increased payments due to salary increases, granted deputies under new contracts, that itemized billing has not been provided or documented, and that the current monthly payment amounts are in error.

In January Folmar received a letter from the Board of Commissioners, in which a recommendation by the Board of Auditors was broached. The auditors have recommended that Romulus pay for contractual police services 60 days in advance, since indications are that the County Sheriff's Department has not received previous payments "in a timely fashion, thereby adding to the county's cash flow problem."

Folmar maintains that the city and county are operating under the provisions of the expired contractual agreement, and that "they (county board) can't just pass a resolution and change the contract. We have to negotiate those things."

However, Jarrett Simmons of Detroit echoed the sentiments of her fellow commissioners last week when she said the county cannot afford to subsidize another community because of its own financial problems.

Things that matter

Is sex going out of style?

By GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

There are signs that sex is going out of style. This will be seen as good news by religious leaders who viewed the sexual revolution as an invention of the devil.

Others, however, are not so sanguine about the sexless revolution — although parents cannot but take comfort in some of the latest developments.

A new sociological study, "Teen-age Sexuality," shows "having sex" running last in a field of six activities which teens say they are most interested in today.

A survey by the American College of Education reports that college students are more concerned about getting going on a career than in sex or marriage.

Sex is being replaced in other instances by romance — but it is fantasy romance, not the real thing. Romantic paperback novels are the big craze. Walt Disney Studios has re-released "Sleeping Beauty," a storybook tale of true love between a beautiful princess and her handsome prince.

If "Sleeping Beauty" is a fairy tale, "The Love Boat," the TV show where everybody lives happily ever after, is only slightly less so. Recently, "The Love Boat" ranked ninth in the ratings among all the programs on TV.

In a story on "Cheap Romance," a national magazine this month attributes the new fad of "playing at love instead of doing it" partly to the effects of the "me decade" of the 1970s.

"Some of us are too selfish to commit ourselves to another person's needs," says the author.

The story quotes a teen-ager as saying that "Fantasy love is terrific. It leaves you plenty of time to study and nobody gets preppers."

One grown-up who is into fantasy love says, "Fantasy romance means you don't have to settle for some real-life Ernest Borgnine."

Sex therapists have a name for the "New Celibacy." It is "sexual anorexia" (a word meaning loss of appetite.) One therapist blames it on the sex-oriented magazines.

"Many men fulfill all their fantasies at the newsstands for $2.50," she says.

Another blames it on women's lib: "We know men's sexual appetites dwindle in direct proportion to the professional success of their mates."

The novelist D.H. Lawrence warned us 50 years ago about what would happen. He said, "The nice clean intimacy which we so admire between the sexes is sterilizing. It makes neuters. Later on, no deep, magical sex-life is possible."

U.S. Catholic Magazine this month has an article by a priest extolling the "unmatched pleasures" and virtues of the celibate life for lay people.

"The deep human need for love and friendship can be satisfied without erotic love," he says.

The "dollar-a-week syndrome" will be the churches' biggest financial hurdle in the 1980s.

"Inflation has pushed the churches' living expenses up like everybody else's," says one church treasurer. "But the typical church-goer still drops his dollar bill into the collection plate on Sunday morning. The churches can't exist on this."

This church official's gloomy observation is echoed by financial officers of nearly every church. Now that recession is being coupled with inflation, they look for things to get worse in 1980.

Synagogues and temples have a similar story to tell. But because they raise money from their members by assessing dues — roughly 1 1/2 percent of gross income — rather than putting contributions on a voluntary basis, they are better able to keep up with inflation.

The troubled times may, however, have one positive effect. They could bring about greater cooperation among the churches and synagogues.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 13
Read Psalm 133

"Behold, how good and pleasant it is when brothers dwell in unity!" (Psalm 133:1 RSV)

My sister and I were down in the basement sorting laundry. We laughed a lot, tossing the socks, shirts, pants, and pajamas into various piles, mixing them up, hurling them into the air, and starting all over again. Finally, amid our giggles, we finished the job and bounded back up the basement stairs.

Mother smiled broadly at both of us as we came panting into the kitchen. Was she happy we had done the job? I'm sure she was, but we quickly learned that wasn't why she was smiling. "Oh," she said, "your laughter was wonderful! Someday you'll understand. Nothing makes parents happier than the sounds of their children enjoying each other."

Few things make God happier either. Psalm 133 is brief and to the point. It is good and pleasant when we dwell in unity. Sometimes unity comes quickly. It is spontaneous, like the laughter of children playing. Sometimes it takes longer. It may take days, even years of listening and trying to understand. Whether our unity is swift and wasy or long in coming, God years for us to find it. It is a great blessing in our lives.

PRAYER: Thank You, dear Lord, for the other people in our lives. Help us to rejoice in them. Help our unity and love to grow through the years. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Happiness is persons united in love.

How to cope with the high cost of heating:

HANDLE WITH KERO-SUN!

If you're frustrated by the high cost of heating, a Kero-Sun portable kerosene heater gives you low cost heat for only pennies an hour. Heats with almost 100% efficiency for 30 hours on less than 2 gallons of clean-burning, safe kerosene. Every Kero-Sun is thoroughly safety-tested. Each has a battery-powered igniter, so you need no matches to light it and each has an automatic shut-off — in case of tip-over. There's no smoke, no odor, and you need no chimney installation. This may be the winter when a Kero-Sun portable heater is your only way to handle the high cost of heating.

Romulus seniors get new 'wheels'

Courtesy of Rotary Club

Romulus senior citizens soon will be riding in a new 15-passenger van, thanks to the generosity of the Romulus Rotary Club.

The club's offer to donate a new van for the use of senior citizens in the community was approved unanimously by the City Council upon recommendation of Mayor William M. Oakley.

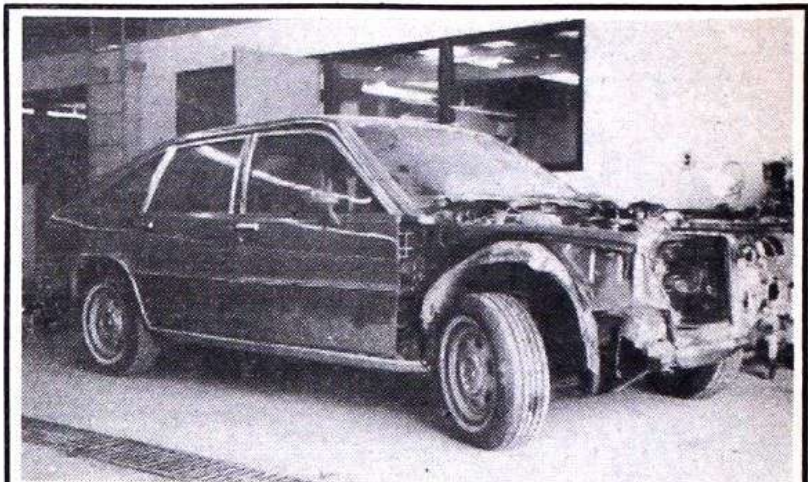

"The van will be a substantial benefit to the city, and I believe the maintenance costs will be a small price to pay for this benefit," Oakley said.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry made a motion that council send a letter to the local Rotary Club, thanking them and agreeing request to have their club emblem on the van.

On Jan. 21 of this year, G.E. White Jr., club secretary, sent a letter to Dennis Davidson, senior citizens director, indicating the organization's desire to give a van for senior citizens use to the city.

Davidson, on Jan. 24, wrote the club, thanking them for its offer and stating he would recommend the van's acceptance to the city council. He also said he would support use of the vehicle for citizens and installation of a Rotary emblem and colors.

Davidson said the 12-passenger van now in use for senior citizens was in bad condition from use and that the club's providing a new one was timely.

The Huron High School auto program was the recipient of a 1980 Chevy Citation donated by the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corp. — Detroit zone. Dennis L. Jacobson, automotive instructor at Huron, had requested a front wheel drive assembly from Chevrolet for use in his auto program. The Citation was secured from Trumbull Chevrolet on Trumbull Avenue in Detroit through the assistance of Al Clay, Chevrolet zone service assistant manager, and will be used for educational purposes exclusively. Karen Mintline, area service manager, made the formal presentation along with A.R. Taylor, Detroit zone service manager to Jon W. Stevens, Huron High School principal, on Jan. 23.

Miller School students introduced to gymnastics

Kindergarten, first and second graders at Miller School were entertained Jan. 24 when Holly Fitch, a high school junior from the Belleville High School gymnastic team, gave a gymnastic demonstration.

Holly talked with the boys and girls about the hours of practice it takes to perfect tumbling and balance beam skills. She showed them some of the dance routines she will do in competition.

"A gymnast needs a lot of sleep and exercise. They also need to eat food that is good for their health," she told pupils.

Some of the boys and girls were able to show Holly and the audience what they could do.

The gymnastics committee in the second grade learned the rating scale on which all Olympic and competitive gymnast are rated. The boys and girls will use a similar rating scale for some of their classroom projects.

That same day the annual school spelling bee, sponsored by the Detroit News, was held for Miller students. The contest was open to all fifth grade children and 10 children from each class took part in the final.

The winner of the school bee was Bryon Waibel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sutton of Grafton Road. Runner-up was Carey Bagwell, the daughter of Mrs. Charles Bagwell of Dubois Street. The winning word was "dominoes".

The first in a series of monthly coffee and doughnut meetings was held on Jan. 23 at the school. The purpose of the meetings is to open communications between the school and parents.

Among the topics discussed were school millage and finance, the hot lunch program, transportation, curriculum and the reduction in the length of the school day. School officials hope that more parents will be able to attend the meeting in February.

With recreation department

Travel north to ski, south for golfing

How about a trip south to play golf?

That's what the Romulus Recreation Department has on its drawing boards, and, if it can come up with enough golfers, that plan will become a reality.

Scheduled for March 28, the 3-day trip will take golfers to Orlando, Fla. Cost will include round trip air transportation, all-ground transportation in Orlando, 18 holes of golf each of the three days and hotel accommodations.

The total package is priced at $299.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the recreation department of 0666, ext. 254.

The recreation department also is looking for at least 30 people to take a "Alpine Valley Ski Trip." The trip is scheduled for Feb. 21, and skiers will leave the department at 6 p.m. They will return approximately at midnight.

There is a $11 registration fee for each participant. The fee includes tow and transportation costs. Those interested must be 16 years old and up, and under 18 year old skiers must have parental permission to tag along.

There is a 4:30 p.m. Friday deadline, to register.

City closes dump on Goddard Road

Romulus residents planning to drop off trash or unwanted items in the dumpster at the city dump had better do it before this coming weekend.

The city plans to close the dumpster on Goddard Road east of Wayne Road to dumping, based on the recommendation of David J. Paul, director of public works, due to the excessive cost of operation during winter months.

Mayor William M. Oakley informed council of the dumpster's closing and some discussion ensued on the matter.

A member of the audience suggested that he and other city residents wanting to use the dumping facility be allowed to pay for the service.

But, Paul said the city dump is not set up to take money, and residents would have to go to city hall to make the payment. In fact, he noted, state law forbids the practice.

In his recommendation to close down the dumpster, Paul gave the following reasons — most of the dumping being done now is by businesses in the aluminum siding trade and demolition or cleanup companies, and some dumping is done by townhouse or apartment complexes who bring trash and items resulting from fires or evictions.

Paul indicated that the average homeowner is not well represented in winter time among those using the dumpster. He said the cost of operating dumpsters in the winter months ranges from $160 to $800 per week. Summer dumping operation is double that figure, he said.

Romulus approves water main work

Over the objection of one councilman, Romulus City Council last week approved payment of $17,818.11 for additional changes in the Ecorse Road water main extension project to the Curtis Wright Construction Co. of Madison Heights.

Objecting to the extra cost was Councilman Ed Rush, who criticized paying the contractor for unforeseen work in the construction contract.

Rush advocated taking the money asked for by the contractor and using it to provide water for more customers.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said payment of change orders was a normal occurrence in construction projects and that speedy completion of the water main extension was of prime importance.

"The people have been waiting a long time," he said.

Raspberry said he did not want to debate the issue, adding that he felt the additional cost was "reasonable." He made a motion to concur with a recommendation from Mayor William M. Oakley to pay the increased construction costs.

Final vote was 6-1, with Rush voting no.

In recognition

Vocational education got a boost last week in the City of Romulus when Mayor William Oakley affixed his "John Hancock" to a proclamation observing Vocational Education Week at Romulus Senior High School. The mayor (left) presented the framed certificate to Vocational Education Week committee members Patricia Gresock (center), job placement specialist, and Al Sheffield, director of vocational education at the high school. Voc ed students are involved in a week-long observance this week, with activities planned daily. Today senior citizens will be visiting the high school and will be receiving tours and hair care, see a fashion show and be treated to lunch. Tomorrow businessmen and the community will be served lunch in the Romulette room and given tour the vocational education classes. The city proclamation recognized "the growing need for vocational education" and congratulated and complimented the high school on providing students with such training. Not present for the proclamation presentation Friday were the other Vocational Education Week Committee members, Alice Fegedi, job placement coordinator; Bill Musham, store management instructor; and Marcia Pieper, vocational education secretary.— ANP photo.

In Brief

St. John's Lutheran Church, Northline at Telegraph Road in Taylor, will hold a pancake supper at 4:30 p.m. Friday at the church.

The supper, sponsored by the church ushers, will cost $3.50 for adults, $2.25 for teen-agers 14 to 17 years of age, and $1.25 for children. For additional information, call Kenneth Sell at 941-0443.

Romulus City Council last week voted unanimously to authorize payment of $2,100 toward installation of a traffic signal at Wayne and Grant roads.

The city's share of the total cost, 25 percent, was questioned by Councilman Ed Rush.

"With only about $1,000 in the street fund, where is the money coming from?" he asked.

Mayor William M. Oakley said that by the time the payment is due, a new budget would have been prepared that would include cost of the city's share in installing the new traffic signal.

Seniors in the Romulus community will gather at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday for a film and discussion on the use of medicines and prescriptions in a safe and healthy manner.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Romulus Health Center, Romulus Senior Citizen Club No. 1 and Romulus Senior Center.

For information and transportation call the senior center at 941-0666, ext. 257.

This week, Feb. 10-16, is Vocational Education Week throughout the nation and the Romulus City Council and Mayor William M. Oakley have endorsed it on behalf of the city.

A resolution, signed by mayor and council, read City Council join William M. Oakley of Romulus in congratulating and complimenting the School for off vocational training.

The resolution also called attention to the technical job ski school students education progr

Riverside School in the Huron School District will hold its annual February Frolic, a winter carnival with fun, games, cake walk, used book sales, entertainment and food, from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday at the school.

The carnival is sponsored by the school staff and PTO.

The Romulus Recreation Department has two nights of rollerskating at the Mayflower Roller Rink, located on Middlebelt Road, south of Eureka. Nights set aside for local skaters are Monday and Thur sdays from 6 to 9 p.m. There is a $1 admission charge for residents and $2 for non-residents.

Students at Riverside School in the Huron School District have been invited to join the March of Dimes fourth annual Reading Olympics, which takes place March 1 - 31.

Funds donated by parents for each book that their children read will go to the March of Dimes.

Area residents will have a chance to hear Harry Willnuf, a Romulus High School teacher and UFO investigator, discuss the subject of UFOs on March 13 at the high school, located on Wayne Road just north of the I-94 Expressway.

The discussion will begin at 7 p.m., and there will be an admission of 50 cents.

The College Scene

Green performs with WMU symphony

T. Keith Green, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Green of Ecorse Road, Belleville recently performed in a free public concert, staged by the University Symphony Orchestra of Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

The concert included performances of William Walton's

Concerto for Viola, Benjamin Britten's Suite on English Folk Tunes and Cesar Franck's Symphony in D Minor.

Also on the college scene: Michael P. Barrett of Belleville was honored recently for 10 years of association with Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C.

Dr. Barrett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barrett of Beck Road, Belleville received a watch for his "faithful service" to the university. A graduate of Belleville High School, he received his bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctoral degrees from Bob Jones University.

Dr. Barrett currently is a professor of ancient languages in the Bible department.

Joseph Schieda, the son of Susan Schieda of Meadow, Romulus, was initiated into the active membership of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity in ceremonies at College.

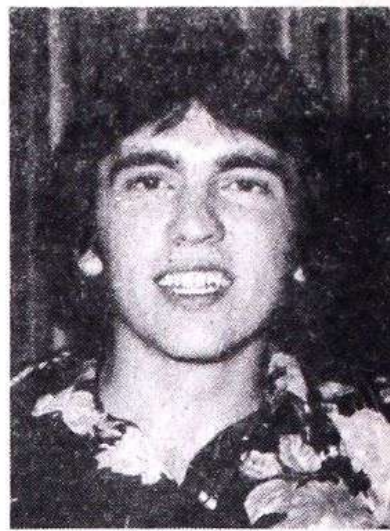

Schieda is a junior, majoring in business administration. A 1977 graduate of Romulus High School, he participated in cross country, and tennis at Adrian. Kappa Epsilon is the largest fraternity in the world with more than 10 active chapters in the United States and Canada. The Omicron chapter at Adrian was founded in 1962.

Donette Miller of Quirk Road, Belleville, graduated from Adrian College in December. She received a bachelor of arts degree in religion.

While at Adrian, Ms. Miller was initiated into Alpha Chi national college scholarship society. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville and is a 1967 graduate of Tyrone High School, Penna.

Romulus resident Daniel J. Lovenduski of Dodge Street was among 350 students to complete requirements for certificates, associate degrees, bachelor degrees and doctoral degrees during the fall quarter at Ferris State University.

Lovenduski was awarded an associate of applied science degree in auto service.

Cross-age tutoring utilized

A unique project called cross-age tutoring in which pupils teach other pupils is now being tried at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School in Romulus.

So popular is the new program, said Marcia MacMahan, teacher in charge, that applicants outnumber the available positions.

Students in the cross-tutor program are under the guidance of Mrs. MacMahan and teachers Charlotte Price, Nettie McDonald and James Madigan.

The program begins with the posting of a job description for tutor in the fifth and sixth grades at Mt. Pleasant. After being interviewed, those students chosen as tutors are matched with pupils in the lower grades, subject to parental approval of those being taught, Mrs. MacMahan explained.

In addition to being responsible for the teaching of "their" pupils, tutors must keep up their own studies also.

Tutors meet with their charges on a regular basis and are expected to come to class prepared in the course of instruction.

Mrs. MacMahan said the program has proved to be successful thus far, mainly due to the enthusiasm of both tutors and their pupils.

Prince completes Marine recruit training

Marine Pvt. Kenneth W. Prince, the son of Carol Prince of Rawsonville Road, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif.

During the 9-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards of the Marine Corps.

He also participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill.

A 1979 graduate of Lincoln High School in Ypsilanti, he joined the Marine Corps in December 1978.

Also in the armed forces:

Airman Michael E. Yonts, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Yonts of Horan Street, Carleton, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned him credit towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Anthony J. Aalbertsberg, the son of Leonia Wasjary of Harrison Road, Romulus, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations. In addition, he earned credits towards an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the civil engineering field.

Airman Aalbertsberg is a 1979 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Christina M. Forest, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred

Forest of King Road, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Sgt. Jim Besmer, Air Force recruiter, Ms. Forest's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for her to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables Ms. Forest, a 1979 graduate of Woodhaven High School, to wrap up her personal affairs before leaving home.

She will enter the Regular Air Force on Aug. 14. Following graduation from the 6-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., she will receive technical training in the electronics aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Airman Debra K. Burt, the daughter of Jean Ringgenberg of Maple Drive, Belleville, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, here, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs, received special training in human relations, and earned credits towards an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the computer operations field.

Airman Burt is a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School.

State's jobless rate hits 10.3 percent

Michigan's unemployment rate broke the double digit mark in January as it rose to 10.3 percent of the state's labor force, Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Director S. Martin Taylor announced.

Taylor said the state had 439,000 workers unemployed last month compared to 369,000 during December, when the jobless rate was 8.5 percent. During January total employment across the state dropped by 143,000 to 3,827,000 and the labor force dropped by 73,000 to 4,266,000.

A year ago, January 1979, the Michigan unemployment rate was 8.0 percent with 341,000 out of work.

The current rate is the highest for any January since 1976 when it was also 10.3 percent. The last time the state's jobless rate broke the double digit barrier was April 1976 when it was 10.0 percent.

Taylor attributed the 70,000 rise in unemployment to further layoffs in the auto industry as it continued to adjust production and inventories bringing them closer in line with lagging sales. In addition, there were normal seasonal employment slumps in construction and retail trade.

The national unemployment rate in January was 6.2 percent with 6.4 million unemployed. In December the rate had been 5.9 percent with 6.1 million out of work.

Motorists get less of tax break on cars

Motorists will get less of a federal tax break this year because state and municipal gas taxes can no longer be deducted as a personal expense, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The refund amounts to almost $40 for the average federal taxpayer who itemizes deductions. The gas tax break was eliminated by Congress with the passing of an omnibus tax package in 1978.

Auto Club opposed the provision and has urged lawmakers to reinstate the deduction. The issue resurfaced in the U.S. Senate on Dec. 6, 1979, but was defeated by a single vote.

Listed below are a number of personal deductions, prepared by Auto Club, that motorists still may take:

- Interest paid on auto loans and gas credit card statements.
- State sales tax (4 percent in Michigan) on purchase of automobiles, auto parts, accessories and supplies.
- Casualty losses not reimbursed by insurance or other means, if not due to willful negligence. The first $100 is not deductible.
- One-half of the medical coverage portion of auto insurance premiums, up to $150, however, any balance over $150 may be deducted as a medical expense, if it exceeds 3 percent of the taxpayers adjusted gross income.
- Cost of operating a vehicle in connection with charitable or medical activities (8 cents per mile plus parking and toll fees). In addition, certain car expenses can be deducted for business purposes depending upon the extent of automobile use in the business or profession of the taxpayer — Auto Club dues, license and title registration fees, insurance premiums, depreciation and gasoline, oil, lubrication, washing, repairs (other than major replacements), garage rental, parking and toll fees.

An individual who operates his own vehicle for business travel may take a standard mileage rate deduction for the business mileage instead of maintaining detailed records. That deduction is 18½ cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 10 cents per mile in excess of that.

For more detailed information on auto-related income tax deductions, persons can call the Internal Revenue Service using the toll-free number listed in the local telephone directory or inside the 1979 tax preparation booklet. Taxpayers also should consult the most recent edition of the IRS pamphlet entitled "Your Federal Income Tax."

County Health Department offers expectant parent, diabetes classes

The Wayne County Department of Health will be holding two series of classes, one for diabetics and the other for expectant parents, at the South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road, Taylor, next month.

The class for expectant parents will begin March 4 and will be from 7 to 9 p.m. for six consecutive weeks. The class uses discussion methods, with members of the group talking about those questions and concerns about pregnancy, labor and delivery and infant care, which are of common interest. The discussion will be led by a public health nurse. Since the size of the group is limited, interested persons are urged to register as early as possible. For registration or further information contact the health department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 390, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

The next series of classes will start the week of April 16. Diabetics and their families can learn about the condition of diabetes mellitus, its control and treatment and the relationship of diet in classes beginning March 3.

The classes will be from 7 to 9 p.m. at the South Health Center and will meet for five consecutive weeks on Mondays.

The importance of the diabetic's cooperation with his physician is stressed along with the patient's responsibility in caring for himself in order to lead an active, normal life.

All diabetics, regardless of age, may attend with written acknowledgement of their physician. Children under 14 should be accompanied by a parent.

To register for the class contact the health department at the aforementioned telephone numbers.

What's for lunch?

Oven-fried chicken, spaghetti with meat sauce and roast turkey with gravy will be served next week in the cafeterias of the Van Buren School District.

In the family style program at Savage, West Willow, Quirk, Tyler and Elwell Elementary schools Monday students will be dining on pizza, green beans, cole slaw, peaches, pineapple, chilly things and milk.

Tuesday's menu will be tacos with chopped tomato and shredded lettuce and cheese, tator tots, pudding, pears, lemon drink, pineapple juice and milk, while on tap for next Wednesday the lineup will be roast turkey in gravy with dressing and cranberry sauce, butternut squash, peas, mashed potatoes and gravy, mixed fruit, rolls and butter, cake and milk.

Next Thursday's menu will include baked Salisbury steak with gravy, scalloped potatoes, corn, juice, pineapple, buttered green beans, brownies and milk, while closing out the week will be a menu of fish and chips with tartar sauce, celery and radishes, cole slaw, mandarin oranges and pineapple, rolls and butter, bavian pudding and milk.

In the other elementary schools the menu Monday will be beef-aroni, tossed salads with Italian dressing, rolls and butter, fruit, chilly things and milk, followed by a lineup of hot turkey sandwiches, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes and gravy, mixed vegetables, gelatin and milk on Tuesday.

Next Wednesday's bill of fare will be ravioli with meat sauce, served with side dishes of juice, tossed salads, cole slaw or vegetable, hot garlic bread, cake and milk.

Next Thursday youngsters will be dining on pizza, juice, vegetable, salad or cole slaw, cake and milk, while rounding out the week will be a menu of soup and crackers, fish on buns with tartar sauce, tator tots, pudding and milk.

In the junior and senior high schools the menu Monday will be hamburgers on buns or Coney Island foot-longs, soup and crackers, french fries, pears, mandarin oranges and milk, while slated for Tuesday is a menu of pizza or bologna and cheese sandwiches, juice, french fries, fruit gelatin, pears, butterscotch pudding and milk.

Next Wednesday the cafeterias will be serving spaghetti with meat sauce or chicken fry on buns with lettuce, and tomato, soup and crackers, fruit gelatin, tossed salads, tator rounds, and milk.

Next Thursday students will be dining on hot dogs or baked Salisbury steak with mushroom gravy, juice, corn, french fries, mashed potatoes, peaches, cookies and milk, with fish on buns with tartar sauce or clams on buns with cocktail sauce, juice, green beans, french fries, cole slaw and milk topping off the week.

HOW TO HELP THE WIDOWS?

Widows, widowers and divorced people hate to be grouped or "lumped" together at social events. All too often, a hostess will invite a newly widowed person and then bring in three or four more widows to "keep her company."

This is just what they don't want! Widows find themselves considered a "separate class" and they feel isolated in spite of themselves. Most widows and widowers struggle to get back in the mainstream and they want to enjoy the company of married couples and of other single persons not necessarily in their same widowed situation.

As a host or hostess, you should try to find social activities which are not always couple oriented. Try to arrange group action and group socializing. Widows (and widowers) become all too self-conscious and afraid of being "fifth wheels." It becomes easy for them to retreat into shells of loneliness. The time to prevent this is in the early stage of widowhood.

Editorial opinions

Mobile fire

A tragic mobile home fire in Sumpter last week, which claimed the lives of three young children, again points up the fact that today's mobile home resident often risks his very life when choosing the 'mobile' lifestyle.

The fire in Sumpter, at the Belle Mobile Home Village, was reported to have started in the home's furnace area and spread so quickly, making the interior of the home an inferno, that the children's mother, who had run next door for help, could not re-enter the home to rescue the children only a few moments later.

While we certainly understand that the mobile home industry cannot always be held responsible for the conditions which may contribute to a fire, we certainly do question the construction of the homes, when it appears that they burn so quickly that fire fighters often arrive on the scene and find only the gutted shell.

We have over the past several years, covered the problems encountered by residents of mobile homes. From the dealer-owners who take full advantage of the purchaser of their products, to the reluctant lawmakers who have yet to face up to the problems of protecting mobile park residents from the industry that has earned few 'blue ribbons' for humanitarian effort.

But during the reporting of those stories, a common thread seemed to be identified: Poor construction and poor installation.

In spite of recent upgrading and stiffening of codes related to the construction of the homes, more remains to be done.

The mobile home which burned in Sumpter was a late model incorporating the latest construction standards which were designed to improve 'escape' time in the event of fire.

It is apparent from the outcome of that fire, that more has to be done.

While government is quick to force themselves into our lives at the first opportunity, government has been slow in moving into areas where they may accomplish real benefits to the community.

We would urge the Michigan Mobile Home Commission to establish a task force to investigate what might be done in the future to prevent the kind of personal tragedy that occurred in Sumpter.

We would also urge the governor to keep a close eye on that commission, now staffed by a majority from the mobile home industry, lest those commissioners lose sight of their responsibility to mobile home residents and the community as well. If necessary, the governor should work to switch the balance of power on that commission from the industry to the mobile home residents.

While we have consistently opposed legislation that would regulate business and distort the normal operation of the private enterprise system, in the area of safety, there can be little argument new rules may be needed.

Census

At the end of March, 1980, residents will be receiving in the mail, census questionnaires, and if past practice continues, municipal governments of this area will again lose thousands of dollars in federal benefits because some residents will not be counted.

Every ten years, as established by the U.S. constitution, Americans set to the task of counting themselves.

This process not only aids government planners in forecasting important population shifts and growth patterns, but provides a ready-made vehicle for the re-distribution of federal funds.

But in the past, many Americans either refused to be counted, or simply forgot to send in the questionnaire left at their homes. And since the federal government utilizes these numbers for determining federal revenue sharing, those communities whose residents were not counted will lose some of those funds.

While some have objected to questions posed by the census takers, and to some extent we agree with those concerns, it is much better for a resident to be counted, than for his community to be shortchanged when time comes for the distribution of federal funds.

We would urge residents to fill out and mail the census questionnaire as soon as possible. Filling out the form requires less than 15 minutes, but could make a substantial difference for his or her community.

Levin's Washington

'An independent existence'

By CARL LEVIN
U.S. Senator

When our Constitution was formed, the role of government was restricted. The Congress played a fairly narrow role in national policy and the federal government was involved in only a few sectors of our national life.

With the economic crisis of the 1930s, however, the role of the Congress and the federal government changed. We recognized a need for Washington to play a critical role in the formulation of policies designed to address truly national problems. With that realization came the growth of agencies charged with the task of implementing the national policy formulated by the Congress.

But as the years have gone by, the basic relationship between the Congress and the agencies have been lost. Instead of serving as tools to implement congressional will, the agencies have assumed an independent existence. Increasingly the Congress is restricted to setting broad national goals while the equally important power of deciding when and how to implement those goals is now often controlled by the agencies.

This new relationship is disturbing in at least two senses. First, as a matter of political philosophy, this new relationship introduces a disturbing factor into the delicate equation of a constitutional system of checks and balances. The agencies which in reality determine how and if national policy will be implemented are isolated from the political process. The bureaucrats who make the decisions which in essence control our lives are not subject to any system of democratic control.

In the face of this new reality of political power, is it any wonder that more and more people feel alienated from their government and fewer people take the trouble to vote?

But the second disturbing component of this shift in power comes in more practical terms. The plain fact is that increasingly the programs Congress adopts are being thwarted or delayed or modified by unelected bureaucrats. While Senator David Boren (D-Okla.) and I come from differing geographic areas and, to a certain degree, different philosophic orientations, we have been united in an effort to check the agencies. We brought together by the commonality of our experiences in state and local government.

The plain truth is that the inflexibility, inefficiency and inequity of so many of our regulations threatens public support for needed and worthwhile programs. The mood of this country is so strong that we need to either face up to the task of reforming our regulatory process or run the very real risk of seeing any attempt to protect the public interest through regulation rejected.

How then do we address this problem? For many years many of us have suggested that the best approach is to redress the imbalance which has been created and to restore the representatives of the people of power and authority and accountability.

The momentum for such legislation is building, and as we approach congressional action on the FTC legislation it seems that the Congress will be asked to choose between two separate approaches to increasing congressional control over agencies. Those choices are contained within a traditional legislative veto amendment offered by Senator Harrison Schmitt (R-N.M.) in the Senate (where it was defeated) and Rep. Elliott Levitas (D-Ga.) in the House and a legislative review amendment which Senator Boren and I sponsored.

Senator Schmitt and Rep. Levitas would allow either house of Congress, if the other does not object, to prevent a regulation from going into effect. Our approach, on the other hand, requires action by both houses and approval by the president. We prefer our approach for several practical reasons.

First, it avoids the extensively debated and unresolved constitutional questions which surround the one-house approach. By including both houses and the president, we simply eliminate any appeal to opposing traditional principles as a way of defeating this attempt to restore traditional congressional authority and accountability.

Second, our approach minimizes the delay which many people find so objectionable in traditional legislative veto proposals. Instead of subjecting all regulations to at least a 60-day delay, our proposal gives committees 20 days to consider regulations after they are published and only if the committee votes to disapprove is the regulation subject to further congressional consideration.

Third, for those who believe that congressional review of regulations will bog the Congress down in too many details, our approach offers two advantages. Unlike the other approach, we restrict congressional review to future regulations rather than opening all the regulations on the books to inspection. And by requiring both the Congress and the president to act, we minimize the probability that we will be inundated with essentially frivolous requests.

Our approach, then, offers a superior mechanism for implementing a needed policy. By itself, this approach will not fully redress the problems we have discussed here. But without action of this kind, those problems never can be redressed.

Editor's log

Now it can be said: Journalists are special

By DENNIS FASSETT
ANP Managing Editor

For every beginning there is an end. And for every end there is a beginning.

Over the past three years while entrusted with the stewardship of these pages, I have often stroked those sentiments.

But today, the lines take on a special significance as I prepare to turn over these responsibilities to others.

To say that I have enjoyed my years as Managing Editor of the Associated Newspapers is a gross understatement. And to say that I have learned is also quite insufficient.

But in my reflection on the past years and on this moment when I pen my last column, I realize that the greatest risk upon leaving is to lose the many close personal friends I have made while sitting in this office.

Over the past three years, I personally shared in the joy and sorrow of many. I have written of tragedy and glory, pain and pleasure, intrigue and foolishness, but the memories I will take with me will be of the many, many extraordinary people with whom I shared these experiences.

Three years ago, when I first sat in this seat, I felt both fear and excitement. I was afraid that I would not be able to measure up to the lofty standards of this noble profession, but I was excited by the challenge.

Today, I feel much the same as I did in 1976. I fear that the person who follows me will not do it the same way, but I am also excited at the prospect of watching the coming change.

Also in reflecting on the past, I must conclude that without the supreme confidence placed in me by David J. Willett, publisher of these papers, none of this could have happened.

Dave took a chance three years ago when he installed an inexperienced person in a position responsible to both the community and these papers.

And upon my leaving, I pray that I have managed to justify his continued and unwavering support.

But while Dave gave me the "chance," it was the exceptional staff of this paper that carried me through.

For several months, if not years, the editorial department 'wet-nursed' the new editor and patiently taught him about the business. For that I am extremely grateful. And over the long haul it is not so much who is editor of the paper, but who the editor is smart enough to listen to, that makes the difference. And I had some of the best to guide me.

Sue McDonald, stalwart News Editor of mine, with little complaint, covered my rear on more occasions than I care to recall. Tom Mooradian, Sports Editor par excellence, guided me through the pitfalls of the journalist's style book and protected me from my inexperience. And the rest of the staff pitched in to make me look good in spite of myself. And I improved, and these papers, I think, also improved.

But, perhaps the fondest memory I will carry with me was watching my fine staff grow and improve. And perhaps the best example of that is represented in a young lady named Carrie Young.

Carrie joined the staff shortly after my arrival and with the help of her colleagues, grew from an inexperienced part-time staffer to an exceptional reporter who brought to these papers several distinguished awards for excellence. I think she best represents the spirit and enthusiasm of this department, a department second to none.

I will also carry with me the knowledge that I have been provided with an experience offered to few.

Love may be a strong word to use, but I have found that most editors truly love their calling, and I am no exception. My emotional attachment to newspapering came later than most, but that lessened not at all the intensity I now feel.

You, the reader, I believe have been the beneficiary. Journalism is a special calling, served by special people. Three years ago I was not aware of how special these people really are but for such a diverse group, with such diverse interests, one common denominator stands out. Principle.

Very few groups I have encountered can claim as their own so many people dedicated to one common and burning goal that has essentially been achieved. A goal to effectively communicate and inform.

Much has been written about the field of medicine, space research, criminal justice, and other endeavors which strive to help mankind. But journalists generally have been slow to talk about themselves. Since I technically will no longer be a journalist, next week, I feel these comments are now appropriate.

Dennis Fassett may no longer have an editorial staff. He may not have his own newspapers, but he will remain an editor. He will remain an editor because he was once an editor. He was once on the inside and discovered a new love.

So damn the media critics, journalism is special. Journalists are special, and unfortunately, every beginning has an end. But for every end there is also a beginning.

I see that you are ignoring the fact that, inasmuch as we do not have a selective choice, we are forced to live under the impossible situations created by a monopoly. We are the victims of a monopoly.

To protect all citizens (including the tenants of a mobile home park) from the dictatorship of a monopoly, state and-or government controls are imperative.

You state that the "scrupulous" park owners are many, and the "unscrupulous" few. Then, we suggest that the "scrupulous" park owners get off their backsides and police their own ranks. Since the "scrupulous" ones seem to be reluctant to do so, then we must question who is in the majority, "scrupulous" or "unscrupulous"? Since we all know that the MAJORITY RULES.

If "these many scrupulous park owners" are afraid to stand against the "unscrupulous few," then we suggest that they stand behind us (out of line of fire).

We have a question directed to the "scrupulous park owners." If you are, indeed, "scrupulous," why do you object to the legislation proposed by Rep. Thomas Brown, to help the tenants of mobile home parks?

This legislation is desperately needed and a long time overdue. What do you have to fear???

Following embargo

Panel to look into problems of grain storage

Problems related to storage and transportation of the state's unshipped grain will be among the first addressed by a newly-appointed House Republican task force, the panel's chairman said.

State Rep. Nick Smith of Addison, a former official in the U.S. Department of Agriculture who will head the 5-member task force, said the panel was formed "to ensure that Michigan's grain industry remains healthy and viable."

Smith was chosen to chair the task force by House Republican Leader William R. Bryant Jr.

Smith said the panel's list of priorities — agreed upon at its first meeting Monday — include finding solutions for storing and moving grain in the wake of the U.S. embargo and shipments to the Soviet Union; increasing the legislature's awareness of agricultural needs in the state; and studying the development of ethanol in Michigan. Ethanol — made from grain — is used to produce gasohol.

"The task force members agreed that the first priority should be to discuss problems related to available storage and shipment of grain," Smith said. "Since the whole process of shipping grain to the Soviet Union has been backed up, there are potential storage problems."

"The task force will discuss ways to promote the marketing of this grain that will help to assure price stability," he added.

Smith noted that the panel's long-range objective will focus on "coming up with solutions to problems facing grain producers in Michigan to guarantee a healthy and viable future for grain production in the state."

"Because of the heavy influence of manufacturing in the state, Michigan farmers and agribusinessmen face problems that farmers in other states are not facing," Smith said. "Agriculture seems to be less of a priority here than in other states, yet farming is an extremely important component of Michigan's economy and overall well-being."

Smith explained that task force members will travel to different areas of Michigan to solicit input from farmers and agribusiness leaders affected by the present world grain situation.

Headed that task force members will "brainstorm" with farmers most directly affected by the current situation "because they will likely be the ones most concerned about solving the problems as soon as possible."

"Hopefully, the state's farm community together with this group of farmer-legislators will be able to come up with effective solutions and programs to ease the burden heaped on the farm community by the embargo," Smith said.

The task force also will collect information for on-the-farm and co-operative ethanol distilleries in Michigan.

"Since we are looking for ways to use this grain, it seems appropriate to look at ways that may solve some of our energy problems at the same time," he said. "We will look into the feasibility of converting a certain amount of our grain into fuel."

Other members appointed to the panel include State Reps. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor), Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate), Alan Cropsey (R-DeWitt) and Everitt Lincoln (R-Albion). All have had extensive farming experience and represent legislative districts where agriculture is important to the local economy.

Belleville continues WW monopoly

McClelland sets record in one-meter diving

Undefeated Belleville continued its monopoly of the Western Wayne & Diving Championships.

In his 10th season as head coach, Sam Vicchy's swimmers have won eight WW titles, rushing away with the 18th annual championships by breezing past an outstanding field which included runners-up and defending Suburban 8 Conference champ, Livonia Bentley, Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth Canton, Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Salem and Franklin.

Belleville picked up five of the 11 events and continued its domination of the diving competition. The defending champ amassed 345 points, nearly 150 points more than the second-place finishing Bentley aggregation.

"It's always nice to win," Vicchy said. "It was also nice to see that all of the members of our team contributed to this victory. We had 43 swimmers entered in this thing this year and 42 of them scored."

Ironically, although Vicchy was pleased with the championship, he felt his swimmers didn't put out 100 percent. Vicchy explained:

"The team as a whole didn't perform the way I felt it could," he said. "The highlight of the meet, I felt, was the exceptional job by junior diver Pat McClelland who did a superb job on the one-meter diving boards."

McClelland, one of many outstanding divers produced at the school, shattered the WW record by compiling 462.50 points for his gold.

He follows in the footsteps of former Tiger greats — Barry Susterka, Ray Paponetti, Dana Thorpe and Arlo Liedler who have won collegiate recognition.

Belleville won the 200-yard medley relay with the foursome of Ward Tomich, Mark Schofield, Jeff Bullock and Mike Stoelton who turned in a 1:45.2. The Tigers also had the best 200-yard individual medley man in the pool with Chris Renton who was clocked in the winning time of 2:07.2. Stoelton beat Livonia Franklin's Tim Webber in the 50-yard freestyle, the Belleville senior covering the distance in a fast 22.9. Webber picked up a silver for his 23.0 finish.

Belleville wrapped up its eighth team championship with a tremendous burst, beating Bentley in the 400-yard freestyle relay by two-tenths of a second.

Vicchy singled out Renton, Dave Dubisky, John Bond and Brett Lawson for the finale, and the foursome responded with a 3:27.1. Bentley and Plymouth Canton produced two-gold medalists.

Paul Dudley gave the defending Suburban 8 Conference champs a victory in the 200-yard freestyle when he outdistanced cross-town rival, Greg Boyle, of Livonia

Unorthodox bowling style

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Alfred — just call him "Al" for short — Coone wants to be to bowling what the Harlem Globetrotters are to basketball.

And the 6-2, 200-pound burly Belleville bowler may reach his goal with his unorthodox style. It is a style — to use a cliché — one has to see to believe.

Coone rushes to the foul line, pivots, retreats, comes back to the starting gate, turns around, and rushes back to release the ball. Confusing? It sure is.

But the end result — strikes.

On Sunday, Al displayed just what he and his style can accomplish. In one of the far lanes where there wouldn't be too many distractors, Coone put on a one-man show at Wayne Bowl.

Coone's act starts with a couple of dips, then some sit ups and running in place. Then, he flashes a smile which reveals three missing teeth.

You look at him and wonder if he's putting you on. He isn't.

He fired three consecutive strikes. Grinned, then back to work. And, after each strike, you think that there must be some sort of gimmick ... an infra red ray that topples the pins ... or something. You know that that isn't so.

Coone is incredible.

"I want to be a showmanship kind of bowler," says the Wayne Ford Assembly plant worker. "I don't think I want to be a professional kind of bowler. I just would like to put on shows before the big tournaments."

Coone said he has been bowling since he was 13 years old, starting in the lanes in Ann Arbor. He's been hooked on it ever since and, despite a 180-190 average, he bowls to entertain and not for sport.

Why pivot from the foul line and return to the starting point-and-back before releasing the ball?

"I don't know how I got this thing, but no one in the world bowls like me. I know it's unusual and I know people just like to watch me do my thing — I don't think anyone in the world bowls the way I do."

You can say that again.

Some people have all the luck

There is a wrestling coach in the area that is $350 richer because he asked to check some wrestling scores. Breathing down the neck of Jak Warren, a Wayne Memorial fan who has made a career out of keeping score for high school wrestling tournaments, the coach suddenly found a 50-50 raffle ticket shoved in his face.

"If you want to check the score of your team," Warren said, "then you're going to have to purchase one of these 50-50 tickets to help booster Wayne's program."

"But I don't have a buck to buy one," the coach meekly replied. "Sorry," Warren equipped.

The coach scrounged around and managed to come up with the dollar and returned to the scoretable.

It's not difficult to piece together what happened. The coach won the $350 jackpot.

Like the saying goes — some guys have all the luck.

Cherry Hill reigns as 'B' champ

Dominating four of the 11 events and qualifying at least two swimmers in each of the eight swimming events, Cherry Hill captured the B Division phase of the 1980 Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships staged over the weekend at Westland John Glenn.

Sophomore swim Coach Wayne Beerbower said his Spartans performed well.

"I felt our kids did a superb job," the Cherry Hill Coach offered. "We won it on depth, although we also took four of the 11 events."

Pointing out that at least two of his swimmers reached the finals in each of the swim events and that four of the top six finishers in the 200-yard freestyle were Cherry Hill swimmers, Coach Beerbower said, "that

Split ends Wayne's hope of cage title

A split last week by Wayne Memorial cagers widened the gorge between Coach Steve Schwartz' team and the two Great Lakes 8 Conference piecesetters — Monroe and Fordson.

Fordson sank 15 consecutive free throws and 18 of 21 for the evening to end the Zebras' hopes of winning a title, 56-48, last Tuesday.

Wayne bounced back and throttled Lincoln Park 62-51 for its eighth win in 12 league starts. Seated in third, Schwartz' Zebras are now three games out of first, a position held by a 10-1 Monroe contingent. Wayne will travel to Monroe Friday night in an attempt to avenge a two-point loss to the Trojans inflicted earlier in the season.

In the meantime Fordson keeps breathing down the league-leader's neck. Coach John McIntyre's Tractors have a 10-2 record.

Schwartz was disappointed at the final result of the Fordson game, but not at his team's performance.

"I was really proud of our kids," Schwartz said. "We played very hard and it's the first Wayne team in several years that hasn't gone over there and folded up despite all of the adversities you encounter at Fordson."

Schwartz refused to define what those "adversities" were.

Trailing 11-6 at the end of the first period, Coach Schwartz called on Bob Kost to ignite his team's offense, and Kost came off the bench in the second period to score five of his team high 13 points and lead the Zebras to 21 tie at halftime.

Fordson came back after the half and scored on its first three shots in the third period. The Tractors built up a 12-point lead before Wayne counter-attacked. But the Tractors penchant of coming through on the home court proved too much for Wayne. Fordson's amazing 15 straight charities resolved the issue.

Kost's 13 points were tops for Wayne, while teammate Rick Rogers added 12. He also nailed down 12 rebounds. Wayne had an overwhelming edge (46-27) on the boards. Darryl Jordan also accounted for eight.

Wayne needed a last period rally to get past Lincoln Park, 62-51, on Friday. Cold the first period, when the Zebras trailed 13-6, Wayne came back on the scoring strength of Jordan, Andy Daily and Rich

Romulus takes King to the wire

Gervin's 30-foot desperation shot with two seconds left does it, 70-68

A 30-foot desperation basket by Derrick Gervin snapped a 68-all deadlock and lifted visiting Martin Luther King to a 70-68 victory over host, Romulus, Friday night in a packed Eagle gym.

Gervin, a sturdy 6-5, 190-pound junior, was just too much for Coach Rod Hanna's cagers who dropped their fifth game in 13 outings this season. The long-armed forward who also handles the ball in the ballcourt without any difficulty pumped in 14 field goals and was a perfect 10-of-10 at the foul line for 38 points.

"Gervin's older brother plays in the pros," said Coach Hanna, "and Derrick eventually will wind up there. He's an exceptional player."

"However, I felt we kept fouling him for no reason — they were bad fouls on our part. He was way on the outside and no potential threat, but we fouled him."

Hanna said he was pleased with the team's over-all effort and went on to say, "that this was a tough one to lose for us."

Gervin's game-winning basket came with two seconds left on the clock. Up to that point Romulus gave the visiting Detroiters fits. The Eagles climbed to a 16-14 lead after the first eight minutes as center Dave Casey and David Holifield found the range for six points each and Darryl Lewis sank four.

King broke away in the second period, outscoring the Eagles 19-12 and taking a 33-28 advantage into the locker-room. The Eagles didn't quit. They came back and made King sweat the rest of the way.

With Casey firing in 10 of his team high 24 points in the third period, Romulus closed the gap to 56-54 for three periods. That two-point deficit stood up as the difference in the ballgame as each team put 14 points on the scoreboard in the last period. Casey and Holifield were exceptional. Each tallied 24 points and were instrumental in keeping their team in the game against the taller Detroit quintet. Lewis chipped in with 14 points for the Eagles who made 12 of 16 from the free throw line.

Franklin fights off upset-minded Glenn

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

A fighting band of John Glenn Rockets led league-leading Livonia Franklin the entire game Friday night before losing in the final seven seconds, 72-71, when a tipped shot rolled off the rim.

Franklin, running its Northwest Suburban League mark to 6-1, overcame a 12-point deficit in the third period with a 26-17 scoring burst and settled the nip-and-tuck decision when guard Jon McCarthy dropped in a lay-up with just seven seconds left on the clock.

However, scrappy Glenn did not go down without a fight. Rocket Coach Dan Henry had the correct strategy and it nearly salvaged the hard-fought game. The Rockets inbound pass went to guard Kenny Liedel, the team's best shooter with

The speedy guard dribbled furiously to the top of the Franklin free throw circle and let fly a one-hander. The ball hit the inside of the back rim, bounced up and Glenn center Dave Ward tapped the falling spere back up into the cylinder with two seconds left.

Glenn grapplers strike gold at Northwest championships

Although they managed to retain the Northwest Suburban Conference wrestling championship, Westland John Glenn coach Bob Lusk sounded a warning that the Rocket domination of the league may soon end.

Glenn mustered 219 points at the league championships to hold off a serious challenge by North Farmington which was breathing down the Rockets' neck throughout the meet. North whipped up 191 points for a strong second place finish.

"I'm super-pleased with the overall performance of our team," Lusk said, "but North is a young team and they'll be back in full force next year. We won't be able to rest on our laurels and expect to win it next year."

How many conference titles is this for the veteran Glenn coach?

"Honestly I don't know," Lusk replied. "But we've won a large share of them over the past 13 years."

Glenn heavyweight Steve Alewine came up with a crucial victory when he led off the finals by pinning North's George Houutekeir in 1:55. The Westlanders also picked up gold medals when Pete Bologna (98), Duane Gibbs (145), Keith Zimmerman (167), Gary Black (198) won in their respective weight classes.

Glenn wound up with three seconds and three third place medals. They finished the dual meet season by shutting out Livonia Franklin, 73-0.

With Glenn's gymnasium rocking with the roars of the crowd — and time seemingly suspended — the ball looked like it surely would drop through the net.

However, the agonizing ending came when the ball was inches to one side, hit the rim again and bounced into a Franklin player's hands as the buzzer sounded.

"It was a truly great win for us," exclaimed Franklin mentor Jim McIntyre after the game. "We were down by 10 points at the half and our kids came storming back and refused to quit. As long as we have a chance, I'm sure we will be battling in each game."

The win kept Franklin all alone in first place in the Northwest Suburban League and raised their overall record to 9-5. Meanwhile, Glenn's record went to 7-9 overall and 4-7 in NSL play.

Glenn, coming off an inspired 68-64 upset of state-ranked Plymouth Salem three days earlier, gave Franklin more than it wanted as it led 17-14 after one buzzer and 37-27 at halftime. The Rockets behind the tremendous 24-point effort of junior Kevin Thweatt, faltered under the terrific pressure of Franklin's full-court press in the third period, but led until McCarthy's deciding shot.

Glenn's 54-53 lead after three periods evaporated when Franklin outscored it 19-17 in the frantic final frame.

A first time

Wayne is runner-up at conference meet

For the first time since the inception of the league over a decade ago, Wayne Memorial doesn't own a part or all of the Great Lakes 8 Conference wrestling championship.

Coach John Wood's grapplers, who shared the last two titles with Monroe, surrendered the 1980 championship to the Trojans who piled up 198 points over the weekend to win the title outright. Wayne finished second with 173, followed by Fordson, Riverview, Wyandotte, Lincoln Park, Taylor Center and Taylor Truman.

Wayne did rule five of the 13 weight classes as Frank Turgeon (132), Jim Daniel (138), Joe Glass (155), Darryl Brooks (198) and heavyweight Ken Blevins walked off the mats with gold medals.

The Zebras finished third with Rob Spada (167), James Nesbitt (185) and Joe Samples (126).

Monroe also was the recipient of the "Hustler Award," an award presented to the wrestler who posts the most falls in the least amount of time. That award went to Rick Lucio, a 98-pounder who collected three pins in the elapsed time of 5:15. Wayne's Frank Turgeon wrapped up his gold in three pins in 7:31.

"I felt that our young team did an outstanding job," Coach Wood said afterwards. "The kids performed well under pressure. We were able to place 11 of 13 wrestlers in the league and finish a respectable second."

Belleville Sub-8 tourney champion

While undefeated Plymouth Salem and Trenton waged a battle to the finish, Belleville sneaked through their arch-rivals' ranks and marched off with the Suburban Eight Conference wrestling tournament title.

Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers weren't expected to be a factor in the duel for first after dropping a pair of dual meets to the frontrunners during the regular season, but they had enough to win the tourney title.

Belleville compiled 183½ points to edge Salem by a mere three points to finish ahead of Coach Ron Krueger's Rocks who have won also everything in sight this season.

"Obviously I'm very pleased with our team victory," said Malecek. "We weren't expected to do what we did, and the kids deserve a tremendous amount of recognition this victory."

Belleville captured four gold medals as Malecek moved senior Steve Cook to the unlimited weight class and the rugged senior responded by winning the gold after earning a 4-1 decision over Edsel Ford's Dean Ledford.

Belleville also picked up a gold in the 98-pound class where Walter Young outwrestled Trenton's Scott Owen, 4-1. John Enzenauer, the Tigers' 145-pound representative, beat Edsel's Tom Barkley via a 3:33 pin and Lonnie Renfroie upset Salem's Jerry Valchine in overtime to win at 138.

Salem responded with victories by Jim Scultz (105), Jeff Brown (119), Steve Szilyagi (167) and Jeff Powers (185).

Stevenson, to the wall. Dudley's winning time was 1:48.8. Dudley came back to win the 100-yard freestyle in 49.8.
Peterson, hampered by illness this season, claimed his first gold in the 100-yard butterfly. His 54.9 was the top effort in that event. He also stashed away a gold in the 100-yard breaststroke. He was clocked in at 1:01.4.

Wayne's Jim McPartlin, whose team was host for the 18th annual running of the meet, said the competition was excellent.
"It was a fast meet," McPartlin said. "And I'm sure those who saw it enjoyed it tremendously."

King canned 14 of 20 free throws and also received 10 points from Eddie Howard.
Earlier in the week Romulus chalked up its eighth win of the campaign at the expense of Maryville 68-54 as Lewis drilled in 30 points and Casey added 22 while Holifield contributed 10.
"Our press bothered them," said Hanna referring to the Marysville conflict. "We saved it until the fourth period and they couldn't cope with it."

GENE REITZ

Reitz helps GVS stay in title race

Gene Reitz, a junior from New Boston Huron High School, is helping Grand Valley State stay in the thick of the Great Lakes Conference basketball race.

The 6-1 guard has played in 13 games for the Lakers and averages three and a half points while shooting 56 percent from the field. Reitz hit six of seven free throws in the Lakers' 83-70 win over Ferris State Monday night.

The win was the 17th straight at the Gerald R. Ford Fieldhouse and lifted the Lakers GLIAC record to 6-1. They will travel to Hillsdale College Saturday for a game that could decide the Great Lakes Conference title.

Hillsdale is tied with the Lakers for first place, but the Lakers edged the Chargers 62-60 in the conference opener. GVSC is 11-8 overall while Hillsdale carries an 18-4 mark.

some may have underestimated our depth."

Cherry Hill garnered 328 points to outdistance an excellent Westland John Glenn team by 75 points. Trailing the two leaders, who will move up to the A Division next year, were Garden City East (151), Garden City West (139), Annapolis (111), Livonia Churchill (109) and Robichaud (55).

The Spartans launched their bid for the team championship with an impressive and winning showing in the 200-yard medley relay as Jeff Pryor, Kevin Reside, Curt McNamara and Mike Baruzzini combined on a 1:47.0.

McNamara provided the Spartans with their second gold medal when he turned in a record-setting 2:06.0 performance for the 200-yard individual medley. That effort erased the Glenn pool mark. He became the meet's second gold medalist when he also eclipsed the pool mark for the 100-yard breaststroke, winning in 1:05.3.

The champs won the 500-yard freestyle thanks to a 5:06.7 effort by Dave Linden.

John Glenn's outstanding sophomore Greg Dawkins picked up a three golds for Coach Jim Lawrence's Rockets as he churned a 1:47.1 in winning the 200-yard freestyle, then claimed a first for his 49.2 in winning the 100-yard freestyle.

Lawrence used his super soph to anchor the winning 400-yard freestyle relay with Jerry McGue, Doug White and Rob Emerson rounding out the line-up.

Lawrence was pleased with his team's performance.

"I think we progressed very well," he said. "However, we did better in the finals than we did in the prelims.

Franklin nips Glenn at buzzer

In the Patriots' other game last week, McIntyre's charges barely stopped Northville, 66-63, in a non-league encounter. McCarthy and Gohl each drilled in 19 points and Doug White added 13.

Franklin led 35-21 before the Mustangs made a run at them that almost pulled out the victory. Center Jeff Weber fouled out and the Pats managed to barely hold on against the taller Mustangs.

Anderson scores 7 times in Extra Point victory

Individual performances captured the spotlight in this week's Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey action.

Barry Anderson turned in a sparkling game by notching a phenomenal seven goals in leading Extra Point Bar to a 10-4 victory over Jack's Sports Center.

Anderson was unstoppable and in one 24 minutes stretch he scored five straight goals. Mark Lafond added a pair of goals and Dan Kubany collected one for the winners.

Ron Wojewski had two goals for the losers with Ray Erickson and Mike Adamson getting one each. The victory provided Extra Point with its eighth win in 18 outings and also lifted it to the Berrington Division lead.

In the meantime, Nick Palise, Ron Johnson and Jerry Robertson led Johnson Carbonic to a 7-5 victory over Jake's Lounge. Two goals in the last minute of the second period proved to be the difference in the contest.

Palise scored two goals and counted five assists to lead the winning attack, while Johnson added three goals and Robertson chalked up a couple of goals. Dennis Broge and Ed Ross scored for the losers.

Corky Hays collected his first hat trick of the season for Jake's with Tony Spada and Ray Schemanske tallying single goals.

In a meeting of division leaders, Futurama Engineers came away with a 3-1 victory over Tastee Freez. The winners came up with two third period goals to break a 1-1 tie.

Dave Frankling had two goals and Danny Thomas scored one for the winners, while Dave Milan fired in the lone Tastee Freez goal.

Futurama, with the league's best defense, is scheduled to meet Johnson's Carbonic, the league's offense leader in the last contest of the year.

Brock's Homes remained undefeated in the last eight outings by defeating The Jock Shop by a 5-2 count. The winners gave up a goal in the first two minutes of the contest but replied with the next five goals in the contest to put away the win.

Don Middaugh led Brock's assault with two goals and Ron Dilaure, Mike Poupore and Bud Brock each found the range for one.

Back on the ice Sunday night, Jack's will take on Tastee Freez at 8:30 p.m. at Westland Rink. Brock's and Jake's have the nightcap game at 10:30 p.m. Over at the Wayne Rink, Johnson's will meet the Jock Shop at 9 p.m. and at 10:30 p.m., Extra Point will put Futurama to a test.

Peters who pumped in five, four and four points, respectively, to lift the hosts back in the game.

Wayne outscored the Parkers 18-12 and 23-12 in the final two periods.

"We were geared up to go against Vince Ford, who is 6-9," said Schwartz in an attempt to explain his team's slow start. "But Ford was injured and didn't play. We were flat and fell behind, 19-6. Then, Rogers, Jordan, Daily and Peters gave us a lift."
Rogers pumped in 10 of his 21 points to help the Zebras catch L.P. at 39-all for three periods. The 23-12 edge in the fourth period settled the duel.

Rogers was a perfect 5-for-5 at the foul line and picked up eight field goals for his 21 points, the evening's high. Jordan supported him with 14 while Daily had eight.

"Lady Luck has been on Monroe's side this year, Schwartz pointed out. "Every time they've been involved in a close game they've won. Friday night's game isn't only a game of prestige... we need to win to hang on to third place."

Taylor Center is only a half-game behind. The Rams own a 7-4 record.

potpourri

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

In hopes that you just might have wondered where "potpourri" was last week, I am happy to say "it" was on vacation — at sea — in the Caribbean. And, though it didn't appear in print, it was being written mentally as yours truly observed her fellow Americans at play and an international crew at work.

So — let me tell you about my winter vacation! And, if you persist in continuing this column, that's what you're in for. Let it be known that you were forewarned!

For the first time in our 28½ years of togetherness, BG and I took off on a WINTER holiday — and a cruise at that! Having pondered the possibility for the past few years, we decided last fall that we'd quit "thinking about it" and get down to the brass tacks of booking a trip. We had always figured on sharing the adventure with at least one other couple, but when that didn't pan out we found that we were going to travel as a duo (for only about the fourth time in our history of vacations.)

And, all you readers who might be considering a shipboard get-away, that's the only way to do it — by yourselves! Not only do you operate just as you darn well please any time of day or night but it gives you the wonderful opportunity of meeting new people — lots of 'em!

We'd decided right off that we didn't want a table for four in the dining room. What if we got stuck with a couple duds? So, after having requested the main seating, we also asked for a table for eight. And, just as at college when you wondered who you'd draw for a roommate, you kept your fingers crossed that the group you'd be dining with three times daily for a week, would be compatible.

Our first introductions were made with a charming couple from Atlanta, Ga., Gene and Sybil (a dead-ringer for my friend, Gwen), second time marriage-go-rounders on their belated honeymoon. During our many meals together we learned about the inside operations of the Waffle House chain of restaurants in which they both held managerial positions.

Seated next were Jack and Karen from the nation's capitol who, we assumed, were husband and wife, but who, Jack soon informed us, were not. Part-owner of and salesman for a Washington brick firm, Jack was a native of North Carolina. Karen, with whom he'd lived for four years, worked for a lobbying organization in D.C. and was originally from Pennsylvania.

Lastly came the "young 'uns" — Rich and Mary — from our own Lapeer, Mich. Both employed with divisions of General Motors, they (at 11 years) and we (pushing 29) were the "old marrieds" in the octette.

A more delightful and diversified group we couldn't have picked ourselves and we soon became fast friends, firmly convinced that at No. 49, we had the best table on the ship (which serviced 1200 guests.) We never did learn if our waiter, Mendoza, and busboy, Rubiano, shared our sentiments — they were much too proper and respectful to have disagreed.

Jack kept mealtimes most interesting since he'd been just about everywhere and done everything in his near half century of life. (We even got to know each others' ages before we disembarked.) He kept the conversational ball moving at all times, and with the rest of us chiming in, we never, never lacked for vocalizing. Even Rich, who'd appeared shy and introverted at first, finally proved that he, too, could unwind. It just took him a bit longer to learn he had to turn up the volume in order to compete.

Mary was an absolute delight to be with. Unsophisticated and inexperienced, we LOVED the fact she readily admitted to being so, and was eager to try everything new and different. She and Rich even entered the yard-of-beer drinking contest and treated themselves to Swedish massages.

Each day when the menu was posted, BG and I would look it over and decide what MARY would order that day and we were right when we opted for lobster thermidor, chicken tetrazzini, duck l'orange, veal cordon bleu, caviar, etc. And, at our final dinner, Mary had the pleasure of watching the cocktail waiter create her first Irish coffee.

Next to our dining companions we most enjoyed people-watching up on the Lido (sun) deck and, folks, America is in sad shape! Some of the same people who'd looked so marvelous clothed were ghastly in their swimsuit exposure! A few days in the sun, though, helped cure the pasty-body malady but not the "excesses."

Much fun on the cruise had to be attributed to the 160 Montana ranchers and their wives — the men replete with ca-owboy boots, 10-gallon hats and sleek, tailored western slacks. Nary a blue jean in the crowd. Another large group, also sporting some eye-catching leather boots (even Ostrich!) represented the wheat farmers from Kansas.

Our acquaintances, and they were many since people spoke the minute you sat down near them, included everyone from a building contractor and his wife from Wilkes Barre, Pa. and a mother-daughter duo from Ventura, Calif. to a square dance club from Warren, Mich. and motel owners from near Billings, Mont.

The crossroads of America on that ship ranged from several youngsters (there were very few, thankfully) right up to an 83-year-old great-grandmother of 17. The unworlly who asked questions about everything and the ultra-sophisticated who HAD all the answers made lolling on the Lido fascinating!

Soaking up the Caribbean sun with others on side-by-side lounges was an experience in itself since you overheard so many different conversations — the "beautiful people" (a foursome from New York) discussing what person had had the most influence on the world in the past 100 years to the New Mexico grandmother kindly advising her grandson how to cope with his less-orderly peers.

The food had always been the first thing we heard about when friends returned from a cruise — rave reviews — and how we agree! Ours was not only delicious and imaginative cuisine but also hot or cold as called for and almost too abundant.

If we appear to be waddling a bit since our return, it's because we indulged in 6-course meals three times daily, super cocktails (I miss those pina colodas), morning coffee and Danish at 10 (whether or not you missed or skipped breakfast), snacks all afternoon, tea at 4 (tea, coffee, bouillon, little cakes and cookies), a midnight buffet and a mini-buffet at 1:30 a.m.,

Yours truly DID get into the exercise class, I'm proud to say, and we even hit the bicycle exerciser in the health room a few times. The jogging we'd planned to do was verboten because of possible slippery decks so we made sure we used as many stairs as possible each day and also got a bit of added exercise at the slots and blackjack table.

Weather was pleasantly on the hot side, ports of call interesting but secondary to shipboard, activities fun and varied and entertainment superb. We enjoyed the presence of a very personable and talented young cruise director, Gary Hunter, who also did double duty as a smooth and polished ventriloquist with his "Mrs. Tweed", three female vocalists, two male singers, a magician and a super comedian and very nice guy, Bob Diverde.

Music could be found in the form of calypso band on the sundeck or in the Tradewinds Lounge, a dance band in the Cabaret, the stage orchestra in the Copacabana nightclub or on the turntable in the disco lounge. There was always something to do — at your own discretion.

If, like us, you've been tossing the idea of a cruise around, perhaps the above endorsement might lead you to actually booking one of many that're available. For us it was the Festival — billed as one of the "fun ships" — and fun it was, all the way! B.J., next door to us in Adventure Travel, is the gal to see.

My closing suggestions (worthwhile hints) for those WITH sailing dates would be as follows: (1) Ladies, be sure to have an easy-care hairdo; breezes on board are constant and have no respect for the sculptured look. (2) DO take that trip without your close friends unless, of course, you are extreme introverts. (3) If you like to munch peanuts or potato chips with your drinks or chew on candy bars while reading, take 'em with you. Surprisingly, there were no such snacks available on the ship. (And I'm a Snicker's bar addict!) (4) Be sure to have comfortable shoes in your carry-on since your luggage doesn't get to your stateroom as quickly as you and you might not care to traipse around in heels for too long. (5) Skip the cabin with a porthole — we enjoyed ours but could have done without it easily and had a few more pesos for the casino. (6) DO talk to anyone who sits down near you; it's fascinating! You'll have to initiate conversations with the young couples, though, they won't. (7) Check prices of perfumes, watches, cameras, gold jewelry, etc. before sailing so you'll know whether the islands ARE offering good "bargains". (8) DO request a table for eight since that way you'll be seated "in-the-round", all others being rectangular. (9) Checkout the tours at your ports of call very carefully; they CAN be a ripoff and we'd not do it again. (10) DO take a cruise — not a soul we encountered had been seasick. You'll love it!

THE BOTTOM LINE: The time to relax is when you don't have time for it.

Altar dates in future

DROTAR-NILSSON

The engagement of Marie Drotar of Belleville and Karl Nilsson of Birmingham is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Steve J. Drotar of Savage Road, Belleville, parents of the bride-elect.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, she also completed studies at the Mademoiselle School of Modeling.

Former Birmingham residents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nilsson of Dresden, Tenn. are parents of the prospective bridegroom who attended Birmingham High School and Wayne State University and owns and operates his own advertising agency in Birmingham.

Ryan Road Baptist Church in Birmingham has been reserved for their March 21 altar date.

TYREE-BELL

Virginia Elizabeth Tyree and Jack L. Bell Jr., both of Romulus, are engaged but have not as yet set a definite wedding date.

Announcement of the young couple's betrothal is made by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Tyree of 38570 Superior, Romulus, parents of the future bride.

Currently in her senior year at Romulus High School, Miss Tyree plans to attend Washtenaw Community College this fall to study photography. She is employed by Fotomat in Taylor.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Ball of 28659 Zellmar, Romulus, the prospective bridegroom graduated from Romulus High School in 1979 and is now working for McDonald's in Taylor. He plans to study electrical engineering at Henry Ford Community College in the spring.

MORRIS-McINNIS

A summer wedding is being planned by Susan Morris of Tampa, Fla. and Ralph McInnis of Bradenton, Fla. Announcement of the young couple's engagement and nuptial plans comes from the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Morris of 15250 Huron River Dr., Romulus.

Miss Morris graduated in 1974 from Romulus High School and in 1978 from the University of South Florida in Tampa. At the present time she is employed as a social worker for Hillsborough County Schools in Tampa.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McInnis of 5104 Coral Blvd., Bradenton, Fla., is a 1978 alumnus of the University of South Florida. He is currently with Consolidated Electric Supply in Bradenton.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston is being reserved for the Aug. 2 wedding.

It's a date

Junior Study Club hosting card party

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Junior Woman's Study Club will sponsor its annual card party tonight, Feb. 13, from 7 to 10 p.m. at North Junior High School. Tickets for the card party and also for the hope chest drawing will be available at the door. The community is invited to attend.

BELLEVILLE — The La Leche League of Belleville will hold the second in its series of monthly meetings at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 19 at 44119 Harmony Lane. The group, free of charge to all mothers, babies and expectant mothers in the area, discusses good mothering through breast feeding. Call 697-2990 for further information.

ANN ARBOR — The Huron Valley Mothers of Twins Club will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 18 at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 1914 Greenview. Betty Bash, member of Parents Anonymous, will speak on Emotional and Physical Abuse of Children. Husbands are invited to attend. For further information, call Pat Schultz at 429-9536.

BELLEVILLE — If you are a separated, divorced or widowed Christian, you are invited to attend the Bethany Belleville meeting this month at St. Anthony's School. The 8 p.m. session on Feb. 16 will feature a program on the Clown Ministry. Bethany is an affiliation of the Family Life Bureau of the Archdiocese of Detroit. For information, call Ginny Rahe at 753-9396 evenings or St. Anthony rectory at 697-1211.

BELLEVILLE — A Strawberry Festival meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 19 at Belleville City Hall. Groups wishing to participate in the annual festival which have not already signed up are requested to attend the meeting. Those seeking further information may contact Leona Van Buhler at 697-7151 in the Chamber of Commerce office.

RUSSELL L. LOCKWOOD

Specialist art degree conferred

Russell L. Lockwood of 11808 Harbor Lane, Belleville, received his specialist in arts degree from Eastern Michigan University on Dec. 20. Lockwood, who taught at South Junior High School in Belleville for two years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Lockwood of Sumpter Road, Belleville.

He currently is teaching mathematics at North Junior High School in Romulus, a subject he has taught in Romulus Community Schools since 1970.

In addition to his latest degree, Lockwood also holds a master's degree in mathematics from the University of Detroit and a master's degree in education from Eastern Michigan University.

Newcomers on the scene

Two-year-old Matthew Kenneth Voigt has a fascinating new personality — his baby sister — to look in on and help cuddle these late winter days.

His future playmate, Sarah Elizabeth, made her debut at 4:41 p.m. Jan. 21 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti. Records show she weighed 8 lbs. - 12 ozs. and measured 21½ inches at birth.

The daughter of Kenn and Peggy Voigt of 215 Second Street, Belleville, her mother is a 6th grade teacher at Rawsonville Elementary School.

Sarah is a new granddaughter for Tom and Shirley Books of Belleville and Lloyd and Dorothy Voigt of Loveland, Colo. Her paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Harold Books of Mishawaka, Ind. and on the maternal side, Mr. and Mrs. John Hambricht of South Bend, Ind.

Krista Lee is the name chosen for the new daughter born Jan. 24 to Robert and Sharon Spraga of 149 Carmell, Belleville.

The 8 lb. - 7 oz. infant, who measured 20½ inches, arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

There's a new baby girl being lullabyed out in Inkster at the home of Chuck and Cynthia Wiltse of 25998 Dartmouth. The new heiress, their first child, put in her appearance at 5:54 a.m. Feb. 1 at Trenton's Seaway Hospital.

The 7 lb. - 6 oz. infant, who measured 21½ inches, has been titled "Sandra Ann".

The proud new grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson of Romulus, Mrs. Dorla Wiltse of Detroit and Charles Wiltse of Taylor. Great-grandparent honors go to Madeline Perales of California, Bernice Husk of Brighton and Paul Scott of Ohio. The new mother is the former Cynthia Hutchinson.

In last week's story on the birth of the Humphrey baby, the new father's name was incorrectly listed as "Tommy". The announcement should have read as follows: The first child for Tony and Shellie Humphrey, a baby boy, weighed in at 7 lbs. - 15 ozs. on his arrival Dec. 20 at Cabrini Hospital in Alexandria, La., where the new father is stationed at England Air Force Base.

Titled "David Anthony", the 21½ inch newcomer put in his appearance at 3:51 p.m.

David is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clayton of Belleville and the first great-grandchild for another Bellevillite, Mrs. Mildred Morrow, and also Mrs. Margaret Clayton of New Carlisle, Ohio.

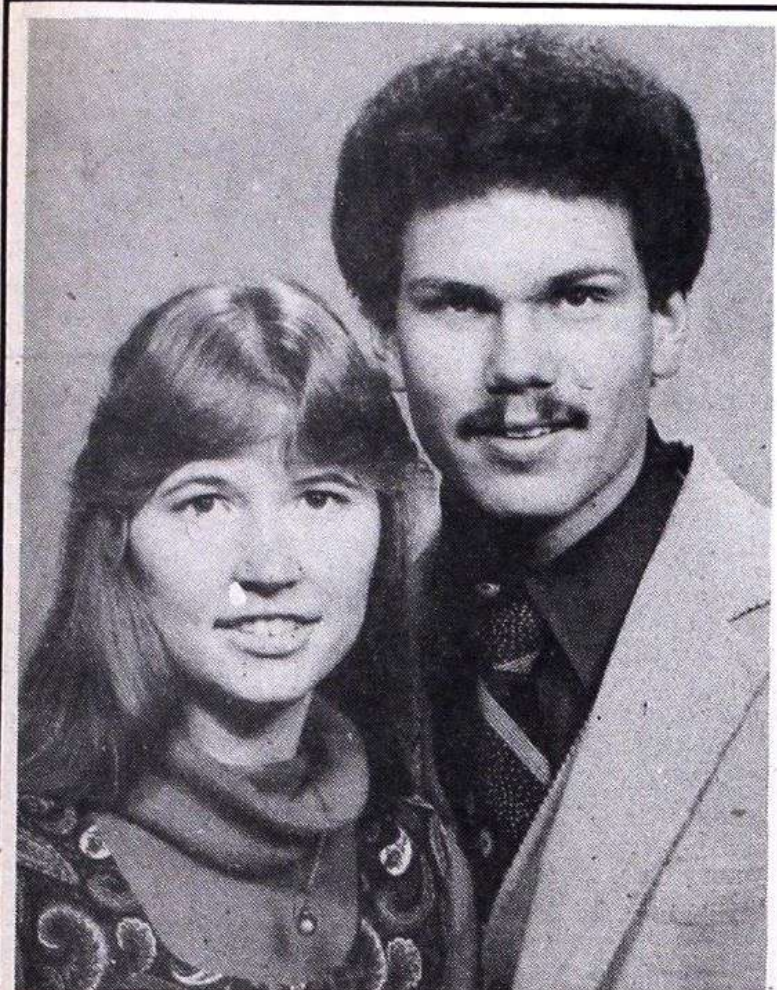

The new mother is the former Shellie Clayton.

May wedding planned

Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth will be the setting May 31 for the ceremony which joins Belva Rae Brown and Stephen J. Kotlarczyk, both of Belleville, in holy matrimony. The young couple's engagement and wedding date are being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Brown of Belleville. A 1978 graduate of Calvary Christian Academy in Ypsilanti, Miss Brown is currently enrolled at Prairie Bible Institute in Three Hills, Alberta, Canada, where her fiance is in his junior year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kotlarczyk of Belleville, the prospective bridegroom is an alumnus of Belleville High School.

New officers chosen by senior citizens

The Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 will have Susie Whitworth as its president during the current club year.

Ms. Whitworth and the other club officers were installed in office in ceremonies Jan. 8. Officiating was Romulus Treasurer Beverly McNally.

Also serving with Ms. Whitworth will be David Ries as first vice-president, Frank Wisniewski as second vice-president, Dorothy Lalonde as secretary, Cecilia Renke as treasurer, Edna Maciejewski as financial secretary, Melissa Bell as social secretary, Dot Icenogle as trustee, Dorothy Anderson as trustee, Eva Harrison as trustee, Sarah Riley as sergeant-at-arms, and Herman McIntosh as chaplain.

WCC workshops set to start Feb. 15

The Ypsilanti Center of Washtenaw Community College will offer three workshops on Feb. 16. They include one on Transactional Analysis, one on How To Get a Better Job and one in Macrame.

The Transactional Analysis Workshop, taught by Sharen Moorehead and Brian O'Connell, will stress "learning more about yourself and how you interact with other people." Participants are urged to bring a brown bag lunch for the session which will begin at 9 a.m. and continue through 3 p.m. The class which meets in Room 304 at the Ypsilanti Center at 210 West Cross, is offered for $10.

George Vrabel, Placement Officer at WCC, explains that the How To Get a Better Job course will help participants "find a job that is right for them in the world of work. We will stress what makes the difference between 'You're hired,' and 'We'll keep your application on file.'" The class will be held at the Ypsilanti Center at 210 West Cross from 9 a.m. until noon. A $15 fee will be charged.

Zane Olukals will provide instruction for the third class. Participants in the macrame class will have instruction in knots, techniques, materials and designs for plant hangers, belts, wall hangings and hammocks. The first project designed and made in class will be with provided materials. This class will continue for four consecutive Saturday afternoons from 1-4 p.m. A $15 fee will be charged.

Advanced registration for all three classes is requested by phoning WCC staff at (313) 482-2230. As with all classes offered by the College, in-district senior citizens are invited to participate at no charge as part of the College's Emeritus program.

CFF asks that you:

"Please kiss your baby"

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary has launched a state-wide educational project, "Kiss Your Baby", for the week of Feb. 10-16.

The purpose of the week-long venture is to alert parents to the symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis and other children's lung diseases in the hope that early diagnosis and prompt treatment — an essential element in lengthening the life span of children with CF — will result.

One of the symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis is an extremely salty taste to the CF child's perspiration, which can be detected by kissing or tasting them on the forehead. Other symptoms include constant wheezing; persistent coughing and excess mucus; pneumonia more than once during childhood; excessive appetite, but poor weight gain; clubbing (enlargement) of fingertips. Suspecting parents should consult their local physician.

"It is estimated that respiratory problems in children take up to 70 percent of a pediatrician's time and are the leading cause of chronic absenteeism from school," said Carol Glass, president of the Wayne Jaycee Auxiliary. "Furthermore, Cystic Fibrosis is second only to cancer in the number of young lives it takes and three out of four victims of this disease are not yet diagnosed.

"Because early diagnosis of CF is essential to longer life for these children, we have embarked on this state-wide campaign to bring this vital health message to the people of Michigan."

Cystic Fibrosis is an inherited disease for which there is neither cure nor control. In CF a thick, sticky mucus clogs the lungs and airways creating breathing difficulties, high susceptibility to infection and lung damage. The mucus also may interfere with digestion by preventing the flow of enzymes into the small intestine, causing malabsorption of food.

Although both parents must be carriers of the CF gene, one in 20 persons in the United States is a carrier. In Michigan alone, there are nearly a half million such carriers. At present there is no definitive test to determine a carrier of the CF gene.

Lawn and garden guide for February

When you think you can't bear one more minute of cold and snow, trade your snow shovel for a stack of seed catalogs and think spring! If this gets you in a gardening mood, the following lawn and garden activities, suggested by the Michigan State University Extension specialists, are timely now:

— Plan your 1980 vegetable and flower gardens and landscape plantings. Order seeds and plants early so you'll be sure to have them when you want and need them.

— Check winter mulches on perennials and spring bulbs and add to them if necessary.

— Inspect landscape plant protectors. Repair any that are no longer keeping plants safe from flying salt spray, drying sun and wind, heavy loads of snow and ice, and gnawing rodents.

— Bring bulbs potted in October out of cold storage for forcing into bloom.

— For a breath of spring of another sort, force branches cut from birch, pussy willow, quince, forsythia and other early flowering shrubs and trees into bloom indoors. Make cuttings with sharp knife or pruning tool so you don't injure the plants. Place cut branches in a bucket of water in a cool (60 degrees F), brightly lighted spot. As flower buds start to open, mist them several times a day. Keep the cut ends of the branches in water at all times. To extend the blooming period, provide very cool temperatures at night (40 degrees F, if possible).

— Prune fruit trees, grapes, wisteria and other ornamental trees and shrubs (exceptions would be spring flowering plants and "bleeders," including birch, dogwood and maple). Because spring flowering trees and shrubs bear this year's flowers on last year's wood, pruning now would remove the buds and prevent flowering. This is especially true of plants like lilacs that produce flower buds at the tips of shoots. Winter pruning causes "bleeders" to drip sap from untreated wounds. Though this does not harm the tree, it does mar its appearance.

Unless you need to remove winter-damaged portions of these plants, it's best not to prune them until summer. When pruning is called for, make all cuts flush with a major branch or stem or the tree trunk. Do not leave branch stubs — they do not callus over and often provide a place for fungus infections and insects to enter. These can reduce the tree's vigor and harm its appearance.

— Check trees and shrubs for tent caterpillar egg masses and bagworm cases. The gray, foamy-looking tent caterpillar egg clusters can be found encircling small branches. Removing them and bagworm cases, which also contain eggs, reduces the number of pests you'll have to deal with

Outstanding area youths being sought for award

The community is reminded that the deadline date for nominations for the Medal of Merit and Outstanding Youth candidates is just a month away, March 15. Nomination forms are available in the city or township clerks' offices in the 15th Congressional District as well as from members of the Citizens Committee and from the office of Congressman William D. Ford in the Wayne Post Office Building.

The Citizens Committee, which locally includes Stella Adams of Belleville, Girtha Folks of Sumpter Township, Imogene Pence of Van Buren Township, Helen Kowalski of Huron Township and William

Hardy of Romulus, is searching the 15th Congressional District for the young people who will be eligible to receive the accolade.

Ford presents the awards each year to young residents who have distinguished themselves in community service, citizenship and civic responsibility. Two awards will be available in each of the 21 communities which comprise the 15th. One will be for youths aged 14 through 18 or still seniors in high school and the other will go to high school graduates of 18 to 22 years of age.

It will be up to the members of the Citizens Committee to choose the persons to be honored.

If you or your organization wishes to nominate an individual, send the completed application to Ford's District Office.

HV Garden Club hears Burma Wertz speak

Ten members and one guest of the Huron Valley Garden Club gathered Feb. 4 at the Martha-Mary Chapel of the Presbyterian Church to view its new interior and later held their meeting in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. Hostess Eunice Kause served hot spiced cider on their arrival.

President Shirley Books conducted the business and Charlotte Budd, conservation chairman, reported on the Pigeon River problems and clean-up of Lake Erie.

Jan Mac Dermid showed several craft items which the group will be working on in March. She will purchase the necessary materials and have them available at that time. Members were also requested to bring ideas and materials for other items that can be made for sale.

The chairman of the City Planning Committee, Burma Wertz, was then introduced by Civic Committee Chairman Charlotte Budd. Mrs. Wertz spoke on the updating of the Master Plan for the city, explaining how the committee views surrounding communities to learn how they handle situations and work together harmoniously. Planning is based on what kind of life the people of the city prefer. She also explained the zoning system and why it is necessary.

COVER

A "creative skiing presentation should be communicated, received and enjoyed. Performing with this purpose is far more gratifying than skiing for points. This is where SnowDance begins," comments Mike Russell, SnowDance producer, showing here a little of his company's ballet skiing concepts to be presented this Saturday, February 9th, at 1 p.m. at Mt. Brighton Ski Area, Brighton, Michigan.

Charley's Aunt

Wayne-Westland Civic Players capture roles but not audience

By GAIL JORGENSEN
Playtime Theater Reviewer

It's hard for audiences today to relate to a play set at England's Oxford University in 1892.

"Charley's Aunt" depicts a long-ago world of idle young men with private rooms and man-servants, and girls who had to cover their ankles as well as their desires.

When the play was written, a young woman entering a man's room unchaperoned could titillate an audience. A glimpse of stocking was shocking (as the song goes), and wild coincidences of long-lost lovers and new-found wealth was timely satire on the literature of the era.

"Charley's Aunt" is the tale of two young students who use the impending arrival of an aunt from Brazil as an opportunity to invite two young women to luncheon. When the aunt is delayed, they induce another fellow to dress up and take her place.

Before the story is over, two men have asked him-her to marry them, the real aunt arrives on the scene, and two more couples are miraculously reunited.

To produce such a play for a modern audience, accustomed to seeing every degrading reality of modern society dramatized in the name of relevance — well, it takes an exceptional performance to make a light, old-fashioned "farce" like "Charley's Aunt" work in theater today.

In view of this disadvantage, the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre did not do too badly, when they presented "Charley's Aunt" Feb. 1, 2, 8 and 9 at the John Glenn Auditorium.

Credit for their success is mainly due to the performance of Kevin Barry in the leading role of young Lord Babberley and his role-within-a-role as Charley's Aunt.

From the moment Barry made his entrance, he exuded a liveliness and flair that had been missing. His strong stage presence picked up the show and kept it moving.

Slight and small faced, Barry didn't look that bad as an old lady! But he employed an expertly-comic awkwardness of movement, along with flamboyant and frenzied vocal fluctuations, to indicate his underlying masculinity and to play his situation for all it was worth.

And director Bob Weibel centered Barry in most of his scenes to further focus attention where the action was.

Steve Kachmarchyk as Jack Chesney (one of the students) was strong and natural and gave us some memorable mugs.

Also good was Floyd Guernsey as Stephen Spettigue, the girls' guardian who falls for the fake aunt. His studied stuffiness was a perfect balance for Barry's slapstick as the aunt.

The other players were adequate but could not quite manage to make the old fashioned dialogue seem important enough. Once we had laughed at the premise of the guy in drag, the remainder of the show dragged a little too.

The women all seemed to feel they needed squeaky voices or smug-sounding inflections to either be English or be funny — I wasn't sure which.

Christine Hendrian wasn't quite as affected as the others, and Jeanne Thomas managed to project much elegance through speaking slowly, but the high pitch got tiresome.

The sets were pleasant, and it was interesting how one bay-windowed wall turned inside out when the scene shifted outdoors. Period costumes were charming, though I did wonder about those knee-high nylons and wedgies Charley's Aunt revealed everytime he picked up his petticoats!

The Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre's next production (in April) will be "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds," a contemporary drama which depicts complex family relationships in the U.S. slums of today. I'm anxious to see how the group handles such a completely different subject.

Camper show starts Friday

More than 800 recreational vehicles and related exhibits will be displayed at the thirteenth annual Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show opening Friday, February 15, for 10 days at the Detroit Artillery Armory on West Eight Mile Road near Northland.

Traditionally the largest, most successful, and best attended public exhibition of its kind in the country, the Detroit show has attracted more than 150,000 visitors in recent years. Attendance at the 1979 show was 154,976.

The turnout for this year's show is expected to equal or surpass last year's numbers, according to show officials.

"Recreation and leisure time continue to play an important role in the American way of life, and camping continues to lead all other recreational pursuits as a family activity," said show chairman Earl Rafferty, of Walker-Rafferty, Dearborn Heights.

This year's show will feature travel trailers, motor homes, camping trailers, truck campers, pickup covers and vans, including new light-weight and energy saving models.

Complimenting the RV displays will be a variety of product and service exhibits including RV accessories and camping supplies, hitches, pickup covers, awnings, trail bikes, suspension systems and components, heaters and air conditioners, transmission coolers, citizen band radios, and tow vehicles.

Other exhibits will supply information on various campgrounds, magazines, tourism insurance, financing, maintenance, camping clubs, and conservation organizations.

The show will be open from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15, and continue through Sunday, Feb. 24, as follows: Saturday and Sunday, noon to 10 p.m. except to 8 p.m. on the final Sunday; weekdays 2 to 10 p.m.

Admission is adults $3.00; children 6 through 12 $1.00; children 5 and under will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult. Senior citizens, 62 and over, will be admitted for $1.00 anytime.

Parking in the 7,000-car Armory parking lot remains at $1.00.

The show is sponsored by the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds (MARVAC), a division of the Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute (MMHRI). Membership includes 700 dealers, manufacturers, campgrounds, suppliers and others associated with the industry in Michigan.

'Snow dance'

Ballet on skis set for Mt. Brighton

The southeast Michigan area will be treated to an innovative and unexpected source of delightful music and creative art form skiing this Saturday, February 9th, 1980, 1:00 p.m., at nearby Mt. Brighton Ski Area, Brighton, Michigan.

The SnowDance debut tour is made up of three young men: Mike Russell, 22, SnowDance producer and developer of the concept; Nick Behan, 20; and Bernard Pump, 19. A fourth member, Alan Schoenberger, producer of the Just Puppet Skiing Mime Theater and winner of the 1976 world championships in both Freestyle Skiing and Ballet Skiing, helped develop the SnowDance concept but was forced to cancel appearances while recovering from a knee injury incurred during SnowDance rehearsals in Utah.

Russell has had a distinguished career that belies his age. He has stood upon more world class victory stands for ballet skiing than any other competitor in the sport's history.

Behan has skied on the ESA Amateur Circuit and with the Datsun Professional Freestyle Circuit during the 1978-79 season. He studied dance with Northwest Theater Ballet, Portland.

Pump is two-time Eastern Ballet Ski Champion and has skied with the Killington Freestyle Ski Team.

SnowDance presents an unsurpassed level of modern dance, theater and mime on a stage of snow.

A passer-by, after viewing the SnowDance rehearsal, commented, "Listening to their music, feeling that expression, you forget all of it's done on skis." Skiers and non-skiers alike are invited to stop by Mt. Brighton on Saturday, February 9th at 1:00 p.m. "Don't worry about snow. We'll have it," stated Mt. Brighton's Gene Hill, referring to Mt. Brighton's expanded capacity to manufacture good snow and provide continuous skiing since December 26th.

"Only if there is heavy rain or a blizzard that would inconvenience spectators would we postpone it to the following day — Sunday."

Mt. Brighton is located north of Brighton, Michigan, and is reached from Grand River exit (145) of I-96. There is no admission charge for the SnowDance show.

When Michael Russell, producer of SnowDance, puts on skis, one can expect the unusual as shown here — catching a tip. The unique 1980 SnowDance Debut program is scheduled for Mt. Brighton Ski Area, Brighton, Michigan, at 1 p.m. Saturday, February 9th.

Theatre guild to present '... the Death of Joe Egg'

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford continues its 26th season with a production of Peter Nichols' A Day in the Death of Joe Egg.

It is a play about a couple with a ten-year-old incurably spastic daughter whom they refer to as "Joe Egg." A drama? No. A comedy. It has been described as a remarkable play about a nightmare all women must have dreamed at some time, and most men: living with a child so hopelessly crippled as to be, as the mother says brutally, "a human parsmip." For all that, it is a comedy, both funny and touching. The author implies that, over the years, explaining to others how one lives with such a situation becomes a kind of set party piece. This, savagely exaggerated, is the form of the play — a recital, interspersed with jazz, imitations and tap-dances, about life with "Joe Egg."

After a long run in London, Joe Egg opened on Broadway in 1968, starring Albert Finney as the father, Brian. Dale Feldpausch assumes the role in the Guild production. Feldpausch teaches drama part-time at Schoolcraft College and directed The Real Inspector Hound there last fall. Appearing as the mother is Sandi Martin of Detroit, who was seen recently in the role of Rosemary in TGLR's How To Succeed in Business. She is employed as a therapist and works with handicapped senior citizens.

The couple perform their almost vaudevillian recital for visitors and for Brian's mother. Brian's old college acquaintance is played by Ron Samuel of Grosse Pointe, who was in the Guild's opening show of the season, John Brown's Body. Carole McNulty, Livonia, appears as his wife. She will be remembered for her performance of the leading role in TGLR's My Fat Friend, which was directed by Samuel.

In the role of Brian's mother is Marion Tournaud, Farmington, a veteran member of the Guild, who also keeps busy professionally in films, TV and modeling. Nine-year-old Michael Hineman of Redford makes her debut in the title role.

Rehearsals are progressing under the direction of Ronald Worsley, who received his Ph.D. in speech and theatre from Wayne State University and is currently theatre director at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn. This is Worsley's fourth directing assignment for TGLR. Assisting him in Lesa Sweeney, a graduate of Livonia's Bentley High School, who received their Honor Award for Dramatics in her senior year.

Producer Mary O'Connell, Plymouth, came to the Guild as a "stage mother" during The King and I in 1969. Since then, she has served on the Board of Directors in several offices including president, and worked on approximately 40 shows. She is a registered nurse, mother of five daughters, and a very young grandmother. She says, "I will certainly have a mid-life crisis if I can work it into my schedule."

The product of all these busy people and many others can be seen February 15, 16, 22, 23, 24, 29, and March 1 at 15138 Beech Daly Road (just south of Five Mile), Redford. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. for all performances except February 24, which is a 2:30 matinee. Admission is $4.00; discounts are available to students and senior citizens on opening night and the Sunday matinee. Seating is limited and reservations are advisable. Call 255-2547.

Westland center to host Michigan Opera Company

Children will get special attention at Westland Center the first Saturday of each month.

Children of all ages will be invited to see the Michigan Opera Company, theatre and dance on the first Saturday of each month.

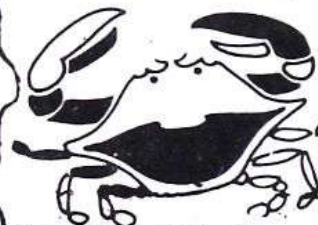

The first program will be held Saturday, March 1, at Noon and 2 p.m. in the Central Court. A 19 year old magician, Bill Heiney, of Plymouth, Michigan, will perform magic tricks including making coins appear from thin air to cutting his assistant, Lisa, into three pieces. This is Bill's tenth year as a magician. He started out at age 9 by putting on shows for friends and family in his house and today he performs all over western Wayne County.

April 5, the Michigan Opera Company will present selections of "Rumpelstiltskin" at Noon and 2 p.m. On May 3, the Henry K. Martin Actors Trunk Company will present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs".

Future programs are in the process of being planned and will be announced as they are established.

All the programs will be free and we hope children of all ages will come to enjoy them.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Recycled soap actors turn up here, there

By NANCY M. REICHARDT

HOLLYWOOD — Former daytime favorites graced the cast of "The Young and the Restless" when the show debuted its new hour-long format on February 4.

Nick Benedict (ex-Phillip Brent on "All My Children") portrayed Michael Scott, Lori Prentiss' book editor. Also joining the show after a several-year absence from the small screen is Meg Bennett (ex-Liza Walton Kaslo on "Search For Tomorrow") as Julie Newman.

You can currently catch former daytimers on the big silver screen, too. Nicolas Coster (ex-Robert Delaney on "Another World") and James B. Sicking (ex-James Hobart on "General Hospital") are both in the film, "The Electric Horseman," with Jane Fonda and Robert Redford. Quinn Redeker, who portrays Alex Marshall on "Days of Our Lives," is also in the film during the press conference session.

The cast and crew of "The Doctors" recently got together at New York City's famed Rockefeller Center skating rink for an evening of thrills and spills on the ice before the tourist spot is transformed

Cable and pay TV take on the networks' lead

Cable subscription in the United States is rapidly approaching 20 percent, with more than one-quarter of these homes (6 percent) also connected to one of the various "pay" systems — Home Box Office, Showtime, etc.

A.C. Nielsen recently released a study entitled "Pay Cable Report," based on a survey of those households that were identified as pay cable subscribers during February 1979. Analysis of the report indicates:

— Pay cable scored well against competition offered by the networks. In prime-time viewing, pay cable enjoyed a 19 share. More specifically, "pay" came within one to two points of matching the average ratings of CBS and NBC during this period.

— On some occasions, pay programming outscored all the competition. For example, on Friday night, Feb. 19, 1979, HBO ran the R-rated "Pretty Maids All In a Row" starring Rock Hudson, achieving an average rating of 29 with a share of 45. ABC, which presented an edited version of the Warren Beatty film, "Shampoo," garnered the second highest, with a 9 rating and a 14 share.

— On the average, television usage in pay cable households is higher than in total U.S. homes, particularly during prime time and late fringe.

— A significant portion of pay TV's prime-time audience is obtained at the expense of the networks. It is interesting to note, moreover, that the top-rated ABC was affected less by audience slippage than either CBS or NBC. Put another way, the effect of pay TV was to significantly increase the margin of advantage for ABC over the second- and third-ranked networks in pay cable households. (However, with only 6 percent penetration of the pay-and-cable combination, the actual effect on CBS or NBC's national rating amounted to less than one-third of a rating point.)

What this all means is that pay-TV's effect on the country's overall viewing habits is still minor, although it's expected to realize significant growth over the next three years.

The threat of audience erosion could seriously challenge the networks' traditionally dominant role within the medium. Pay TV, together with other forces (e.g. video cassettes and discs), will complicate the advertisers' task and force a search for alternative ways of reaching consumer targets.

The challenge of pay TV will also force commercial TV programmers to try to minimize audience loss by improving their programming. When one considers the combined strength of both pay cable and commercial programming brought in from outside markets, it may be the weakness of network programming rather than the appeal of pay cable is the salient finding of the Nielsen report.

It should also be noted that the recent success of pay TV may be due largely to the networks' efforts to reduce the amount of "sex and violence" on the air. While the networks and pay cable both run R and PG movies, the key appeal of pay TV is that their features appear uncensored and without commercial interruption. Rectifying this situation may prove difficult for the networks due to the censorship pressure still being brought from various sources, including advertisers.

Playtime theater review

'The Provoked Wife' at EMU

"Check your moral sensibilities at the door as you check your overcoat when you come to see this play."

Those words of advice for enjoying the bawdy humor of an English Restoration play were offered by P. George Bird, director of Eastern Michigan University Players' upcoming performance of Sir John Vanbrugh's naughty comedy "The Provoked Wife." The play will be performed Feb. 5 through 10 at 8 p.m. in EMU's Quirk Theater.

Director Bird doesn't mince words when he describes the play as "the story of an amoral society if there ever was one."

"The play, written in 1697 after the restoration of the monarchy in England, satirizes the corrupt and fashionable society of the period. It was awfully fun to be naughty in those days, a reaction against Puritanism," Bird explained.

Vanbrugh wrote the play while imprisoned in a French bastille and it was first performed in April 1697 at Lincoln's Inn Fields. The play was successful and attracted the best English actresses and actors for more than 50 years.

Bird says the audience should understand "they are not to approve of the licentiousness and corrupt behavior" of the wealthy society.

"Vanbrugh satirizes the easy living of this debauched society. There are many parallels to our own modern society in the play too. The problems of society in that effete age were not so different from our own. They too had problems with marriage, booze and overindulgence. The audience will have to listen carefully; this is a play with brilliant dialogue," Bird added.

Bird has put a cast of 20 students through painstaking rehearsals to master the original dialogue of 17th century England. He also takes pride in the fact that the EMU version of the play is the original with some of the shocking language included.

"I have always been attracted to this era in theater history. There probably never was a group of comedies as good as these. Vanbrugh is kind of a forgotten playwright. He wrote only two plays that I know of, 'The Provoked Wife' and 'The Relapse.'"

"I have taught here (at Eastern) for 25 years and we have never done a Vanbrugh play yet. It is somewhat ironic that we are producing this play now and I see that the University of Michigan is doing 'The Relapse' later this year. So we are celebrating a kind of mini Vanbrugh festival," Bird said.

Bird compares the robust comedy to the contemporary work of Noel Coward, although he explains that American playwrights have yet to produce works of a similar genre. Action in the play focuses on the levelless marriage of Sir John and Lady Brute played by Bobb James and Laura Baler.

According to Bird, the two main characters are "stuck with each other" because of their inability to divorce. She married him for his money; he married her because "he had a mind to lie with her and she would not let him" unless they were properly married.

The play hops and skips from one scene to another — 18 in all — and Bird says the elaborate costumes "had to be built from the underwear out." The costumes were designed by Katherine Holkeboer, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts at EMU.

Truck
back

The nation's fastest-growing motor sport — 4 wheel truck pulling — returns to the Pontiac Silverdome for the third consecutive year on Saturday and Sunday, March 1-2.

A crowd totalling 100,000 is expected for three shows at the 3rd Annual 4-Wheel Drive-a-Rama Superdrive. Besides being bigger than ever, this year's show promises to be the best yet.

Drivers and their vehicles will be coming from as far away as Missouri and northern Minnesota and from throughout the Midwest and Ontario. Many of last year's winners will be returning.

Competition will be in two classes — 1) Modified, and 2) Super Modified.

Modifieds have engines developing from 500 to 800 horsepower, and must be naturally aspirated. Super Modifieds develop between 500 and 1,100 horsepower and may have stretched wheelbases and turbochargers on their engines.

These are without question the hottest four-wheel-drive trucks in the country. Many people call them "the funny cars of the four-wheel-drive world."

Doors open at 11 a.m. for the first Saturday show which starts at 1 p.m. sharp. They reopen at 6 p.m. for the evening show starting at 8 p.m. On Sunday, doors will open at noon for the single performance starting at 2 p.m.

More than $32,000 in prize money will be awarded to winners. Tickets are available at the Silverdome box office and at all J.L. Hudson's ticket offices. Prices are $8 for adults Saturday night, and $6 Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Children under 12 are $1 at all times.

STARVIEW

Trim, responsive body is one key to success

By RUTH THOMPSON

Say you're already doing the diet bit to get in shape, but the silhouette is still blurred. What to do? What do stars do, keep a resident masseuse to pound off the flab? If not "passive" exercise, then what?

The perennially nifty Claudette Colbert, whose weight has never topped 110 pounds, has been a lifelong devotee of massage three times a week in lieu of calisthenics. But, she hasn't been counting all that gardening she does when she's at her Barbados home or the rushing around, as she has been this past year touring her stage play, 'Kingfisher,' with Rex Harrison. With or without calisthenics, she's both disciplined and good-natured.

But if the current crop of stars in their 20s, 30s or 40s rush to an hour-long session on a massage table, it's probably to iron out the kinks they knotted up during exercise sessions. Certainly the ones we've talked to or been told about shrug off massage as a substitute for exercise.

Ali MacGraw is a prime example. She's not just an exercise disciple, she's an apostle. In a low, good-natured voice she said she would continue our recent interview past its allotted time, right up to the minute she had to leave for her exercise class, but getting to class was uncancellable.

How often does she go?

"Every day." When she's in New York she works out at the Lotte Berk studio, which says it only wants customers interested in "serious exercise." (I've tried it; they're not kidding.) "When I'm in California, I work with Ron Fletcher. I always feel so much better after an hour of class." She mused on how she needed it all for her razzle-dazzle punching bout with Alan King in their new movie, "Just Tell Me What You Want." As the ex-Number-One-girl in the life of a tycoon (King) an angry Ali is the aggressor with purse, fists and feet. "We shot that all one Sunday from 8 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. I could barely move the next day."

Several weeks ago on ABC's "Fantasy Island," Barbi Benton was as trimly proportioned as in her pre-acting phase when she posed for Playboy magazine. Again, Barbi has been doing more than rely on a brisk metabolism to keep her shapely. When she first went on the road with a singing group, she insisted that everybody join her for an hour of exercise at midday instead of lunch with abdomen-flattening situps led by Barbi herself.

Three petite blondes -- Pia Zadora, Goldie Hawn and Sandy Duncan (Broadway's current "Peter Pan") -- have all, at times, modestly used the same phrase, "Well, I'm a dancer," to explain their childlike liteness.

But a dancer's commitment to physical training at least matches -- and sometimes exceeds -- that of world-class athletes.

Take Pia as a for-instance. Viewers know her currently as The Dubonnet Girl in television commercials. She made her Broadway debut at the age of 8 and currently heads a nightclub act that takes her to Las Vegas several times a year. The finale of a tour of her New York apartment is a peek at her mirrored exercise room with a no-nonsense ballet barre. Yes, work-outs are a daily must. The only thing that softens the atmosphere is a scattering of the stuffed animals and dolls that Pia still cherishes.

Marygrove to present fourth chamber music concert

The fourth concert of the current "Saturdays at Four" Chamber Music series will feature guest artists Marcy Chanteaux, cellist, pianist Lawrence La Gore and soprano Earnestine Nimmons. The February 16 concert will be performed at Marygrove College in Northwest Detroit.

Saturdays at Four is

Over 30 United States Patent Models, dating from 1837 to 1879, will be on exhibit at the Plymouth Historical Museum starting February 2nd. These are the original working models.

The Plymouth Historical Museum, located at 155 S. Main Street in Plymouth, is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is $1.00 for Adults; 50 cents for Youth 12-17; and 25 cents for Children 5-11. Special educational tours may be arranged in advance by calling the Museum, 455-8940.

Until the late 1800's, the United States Government required that a working model accompany the drawing and description of the item when applying for a patent.

Among the many models you will see a knitting machine patented 1861; a washing machine patented 1872; a paper tube machine patented 1875; an egg box patented 1876; a fireproof curtain patented 1877; a refrigerator patented 1857; and these models will be on exhibit until April 13th.

made possible with the support of the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Ms. Chanteaux is the Detroit Symphony's new Assistant Principal Cellist. She is also a member of the Brio Trio which performs at the March 15 "Saturdays at Four" concert.

Ms. Nimmons is a veteran of the Michigan Opera Theater and has performed widely in the metropolitan area.

Mr. La Gore, the founder and artistic director of Saturdays at Four, is well known in the Detroit area as an accompanist, chamber musician and soloist of outstanding ability.

The program will include Five Songs by Faure, Sonata in A major by Franck, Elegy by Faure, 11 est doux, 11 ist bon by Massenet, Juliet's Waltz Song by Gounod and Mein gläubiges Herze, Frohlocke by Bach.

General admission is $5; students and senior citizens, $3.50.

An hors d'oeuvres reception follows the concert. For further information call 862-8000.
